Norman Thomas Cites U.S. 'Guilt' In Viet War

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

"You don't have much chance of living to my age in anything like decency unless there is a radical change in foreign policy," six-time Socialist presidential candidate Norman Thomas, 81, warned University of Nebraska students Thursday.

"We are at least as guilty as North Viet Nam of aggression in South Viet Nam," Thomas declared, because the United States is "defining liberty only in terms of anti-communism."

"(President Lyndon) Johnson is right in pressing for negotiations," Thomas said. "There is nothing we can do that will make us a military force in Southeast Asia.

Must Coexist

"We have to learn to coexist with the Chinese too," he added

Thomas, explaining he didn't "want to draw a picture of blessing on communism in Southeast Asia," pointed out that the U. S. would have to recognize the Viet Cong as a chief negotiator in discussions to get "something conforming to what the Vietnamese want, whether it is our ideal or not"

But then Thomas announced to some 500 listeners that he felt the Viet situation had advanced too far for negotiations.

It is time for the "President, himself, to call for a cease-fire — dramatically if he wants to." Thomas declared, calling for neutral nations to supervise the arrangement

In his demand for peace, the former Presbyterian minister and social worker praised what he called Pope Paul's service to the world by appearing at the United Nations. However, Thomas said, he spoiled his speech by "apparently putting into juxtaposition feeding the hungry and birth control."

Socialist Way 'Superior'

Thomas contended that the "socialist approach of planning for the good of all" is superior to the War on Poverty, which he called an attempt to "keep people happy by giving out doles."

Maintaining that the U. S. has reached the "welfare state," Thomas admitted that it might merely be serving as the "substitute to problems" since there has been "no great change of an economic sort"

Neither has there been anything done about "outrageous oil land owners or the system of land taxation," both of which have allowed men to grow rich just because they owned certain pieces of land, he said.

Discussing civil rights in the U.S., Thomas, chairman of the Post-War World Council, reported that there has been "unmistakable progress. It makes me ashamed" of past toleration.

He said that "we have almost all of the legislation we need, except laws that will enable us to try white folks for the murder of Negroes with some hope of conviction, especially in the South"

Thomas praised the action of students "triggering interest," as well as boycotts and Supreme Court decisions for playing an "honorable role in the struggle."

Education Association Award To Rasmussen

San Diego, Calif.—Nebraska is heading into an extensive new program for its schools, and the man who did much to make it possible received a national Distinguished Service Award for legislative service Thursday night from the National Education Association's Department of Rural Education.

The man is Ross H. Rasmussen, legislator for Nebraska's 15th district. He received his award at a banquet in the U. S. Grant Hotel, the closing event of the Department's convention here.

Dr. Donald Kruzner, King County superintendent from Seattle, Washington, and president of the department turned to Floyd Hutchinson, a constitutent of Sen. Rasmussen as Dodge County superintendent in Fremont, Neb., and president-elect of the Nebraska County Superintendents Association to make the actual presentation.

Although Rasmussen didn't do the job alone, he kept the fires burning to pass Nebraska's Education Service Unit Act which provides for 19 regional service agencies for his state

Through these regional centers might well come the kinds of specialized services that will assure for every rural child an educational program at least equal to those provided in urban areas. On a regional basis special programs for handicapped children; curriculum specialists to assist teachers, instructional materials and data processing centers, and other programs would be possible.

The award to Rasmussen is the first to be made by the NEA'S Department of Rural Education but similar annual salutes to other legislative leaders who have worked for the betterment of schools are anticipated.

Robert M. Iisenberg, executive secretary of the Department of Rural Education, said of the idea·

"The level of quality found in the educational programs provided by schools is determined to a large extent by our state legislators Many of these men and women exert the highest kind of leadership for good educational legislation We want to show that we appreciate what they do."

. . . Morton Charges Eisenhower Blacklisted

Washington (AP) — Republicans gathered in 28 cities across the country Thursday night to toast former President Dwight D. Eisenhower on his 75th birthday and hear him speak scornfully of legislation "bulled through just by political power."

Other GOP leaders, at a coast-to-coast chain of party fund-raising dinners, added President Johnson's name to Eisenhower's criticism.

"System Falling"

". . . Power feeding on power is being used to undermine our two-party system under the Johnson administration," said Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss, teamed with Barry Goldwater in Los Angeles.

"Not even a wartime administration has had greater power concentrated in the hands of the executive branch than is concentrated in the White House today," said Goldwater, the Republican landslide loser to Johnson last November.

In a speech prepared for delivery in Cleveland, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky charged the Democrats have "let extremism play a major role" in their party.

"It's the Democrats who support extremism, morally and with money, not Republicans," said Morton, ex-national GOP chairman who two weeks ago accused the John Birch Society of trying to infiltrate the GOP, and said its influence should be ousted. "Birchers of the left," he said have a grip on the Democratic Party.

'Addlepated'

Morton said the Democratic National Committee has contributed $10,000 to an organization called Group Research, Inc., which he said turned out an "addlepated blacklist" labeling as extremists such public figures as Sen. Everett M Dirksen, R-Ill, Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill, and Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn.

Morton said Group Research, Inc., listed Eisenhower himself among "right-wing extremists . . ."

Wesley McCune, director of Group Research, Inc., said his organization received funds from the Democrats, but flatly denied it published any blacklist.

'No Such Thing'

"There is no such blacklist." McCune said. "Group Research does not operate a blacklist and I know of no blacklist of any sort he describes."

GOP Finance Chairman Lucious D. Clay, an old Eisenhower Army colleague, recommended the dinners—at up to $100-a-plate—be no-frill affairs to boost the net for the Republican treasury.

The dinners were without the closed circuit television network Republicans have used in years past. And Eisenhower's talk was on film.

The former president spent his birthday in Phoenixville, Pa., with his four grandchildren.

A 15-minute film carried his remarks to the dinners. There were to be 41 of them all told, not all being held Thursday night.

"The laws a nation lives by have to be hammered out by debate, by thoughtful discussion and by give and take," Eisenhower said. "They cannot be bulled through just by political power.

"In legislation," he added, "it is not how many laws you pass, it is how many good laws you pass."

The old soldier added a personal footnote:

"As you look back over your shoulder to the past, it is not the awards and the medals and the accolades you receive. It is the satisfaction you get in the belief in something you have done—the hope you have done something the people want to remember you for"

Fire Away

In other cities, other Republicans fired these rounds at Johnson:

—In Asheville, N.C., Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin aid under Johnson's "great consensus formula, differences of opinion are being muted, confrontations of ideas are being forcibly extinguished and rational debate is going by the board."

—Idaho Gov. Robert Smylie said Republicans now must earn the support of the voters by proving that they have constructive programs to meet the nation's needs.

GOP Doesn't Act On Splinter Groups

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Omaha — The Republican State Central Committee Thursday discussed only briefly its attitude toward splinter groups, but took no official action regarding their role in GOP politics.

Only one member, W. C. Fraser of Omaha, urged Republicans to ignore splinter efforts and save their money for use in Republican activities.

But Herbert White of Omaha apparently spoke for a majority of the committee members when he attracted heavy applause with a plea to accept the support of any and all individuals and groups.

No 'Kicks in Face'

"Don't start kicking anyone in the face who wants to help the Republican ticket or vote for it," he said.

Dr Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk said the Republican Party should be simply "for Republicans and against Democrats"

Warren Keeler of Bellevue told State Chairman Walter Witthoff that "some conservatives are not sure whether they're welcome in the party or not."

Witthoff replied that, "Conservatives are as much or more, welcome in the party as anyone"

There is room, he said, "for all shades of Republicanism."

Birch Society Named

Only one member, Kenneth Beckenhauer of West Point, mentioned the John Birch Society by name, noting that Republicans may agree with portions of its program and disagree with other parts.

Major discussion centered on the desire for increased activity by the State Central Committee and a greater role in policy-making decisions.

Witthoff assured members that the executive committee is ready to do the central committee's bidding.

Several members said the decline of GOP strength in Nebraska coincided with the "downgrading" of the central committee.

"We have become a report-listening body," Paul Krueger of Fort Calhoun said.

Robert Denney of Fairbury suggested that the committee divide itself into subcommittees and begin to establish policy and programs.

State Finance Chairman John Riddell of York reported that the party now has $5,360 in the treasury. It has met $23,000 of its $38,000 national quota.

What the party needs, he said, is "the power and patronage of the governor's office."

If it doesn't regain the office next year, he warned, "we won't have a political party in Nebraska much longer"

Ford Raps Work Of Current Congress

Omaha — House Minority Leader Gerald Ford said Thursday that the current Congress is "preoccupied with quantity, but has done a very poor job in quality" in terms of its legislative record

"When the American people wake up to the costs, the added bureaucracy, and the federal encroachment loosed by this Congress, its record will be rejected," the Michigan congressman predicted.

The next session will face the task of "correcting the errors of the first session," Ford said.

The proper Republican role, he said, is "to oppose those measures that are wrong, to support those policies that are right, and to propose constructive alternatives when necessary"

The GOP has, in the main, supported Johnson's administration policies in Viet Nam, Ford noted.

Later, in an address to 350 persons at a $100 a plate dinner celebrating General Dwight Eisenhower's 75th birthday, the congressman warned of the "erosion" of basic American tenents.

In danger, he said, is the basic separation of powers ordained by the Constitution, the integrity of the states and the two-party system itself.

Ford said only a Republican victory in 1966 will restore those three cornerstones of American philosophy.

The GOP must be "a broadly-based, all inclusive party," he said.

"We should not exclude people. There is room for honest dissent and reasonable dialogue."

Sen. Carl Curtis told the diners that the "Great Society" is a "spending and socialistic conspiracy."

Curtis criticized the size of the federal budget, the medicare program, and "scandal after scandal" in the Democratic administration.

Democrats, he said, are "inept in handling foreign affairs."

Curtis predicted that the Dominican Republic will fall to "a communist takeover" in the near future.

The dinner, which featured a 15-minute film on Eisenhower's life, grossed an estimated $35,000 for the Republican Party, one-third of which will be turned over to the National Committee.

Suharto Heads Indonesian Army, Appears Emerging As Strongman

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (AP)—President Sukarno of Indonesia named a new army commander Thursday — anti-communist Maj. Gen. Suharto who smashed the pro-Red coup attempt Sept. 30.

Suharto, who appears to be emerging as a strongman, succeeds Maj. Gen. Achmad Yani, who was slain by the procommunist rebels.

Sukarno, in statements made to the official news agency Antara and broadcast by Radio Jakarta, noted that since Yani's slaying he has been in full control of the army.

The appointment confirmed Suharto's rise to power since the coup attempt.

Pranoto Out

Sukarno removed Gen. Pranoto Reksosamudro, known to be leftist-inclined, from the top army post to which he had been named temporarily by the president shortly after the coup's collapse.

The Jakarta broadcast made no mention of Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution Sukarno's defense minister and armed forces commander, who presumably continues to occupy his positions

Diplomatic sources in Kuala Lumpur and Singapore, who know the Indonesian situation, have rated Dutch-trained Suharto as a good soldier and possibly the only commander with enough backing at present to fight and beat the communists.

Suharto, in his mid-40s, compares with Pranoto whom, diplomatic sources said, was first chosen by Sukarno as army chief immediately after the coup because he was "fully acceptable to the PKI," the Indonesian Community Party.

Suharto has been in the forefront of the army's anti-communist campaign since it flared with the discovery of the bodies of six top army generals, including Yani's, Oct. 4. They had been apparently tortured by the rebels before death.

Sukarno had appointed Suharto to direct the campaign against the rebels in his Oct. 3 message to the nation, in which he named Pranoto acting army chief.

This had seemed a demotion for Suharto at the time, but his name was repeatedly mentioned in Jakarta reports, particularly in connection with the army's anticommunist crackdown

The latest reports appeared to confirm earlier indications that the communist-hating army high command was in full control of the situation in Indonesia.

However, Radio Jakarta also carried reports that Sukarno had pledged to "arbitrate" the crisis between the army and the procommunist rebels.

Another broadcast quoted First Deputy Premier Subandrio, who also is foreign minister, as calling on the people to support the army's peace-restoration campaign and to pledge loyalty to Sukarno.

Indonesia's right-wing army appeared to have consolidated its hold But Radio Jakarta broadcasts made it plain that Sukarno, 64, remains as head of state and the man who makes the appointments.

The Jakarta broadcast made no mention of Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, Sukarno's defense minister and armed forces commander, who presumably continues to occupy his positions.

Diplomatic sources in Kuala Lumpur and Singapore, who know the Indonesian situation, have rated Dutch-trained Suharto as a good soldier and possibly the only commander with enough backing at present to fight and beat the communists.

Suharto, in his mid-40s, compares with Pranoto whom, diplomatic sources said, was first chosen by Sukarno as army chief immediately after the coup because he was "fully acceptable to the PKI," the Indonesian Community Party.

Suharto has been in the forefront of the army's anti-communist campaign since it flared with the discovery of the bodies of six top army generals, including Yani's, Oct. 4. They had been apparently tortured by the rebels before death.

Sukarno had appointed Suharto to direct the campaign against the rebels in his Oct. 3 message to the nation, in which he named Pranoto acting army chief.

This had seemed a demotion for Suharto at the time, but his name was repeatedly mentioned in Jakarta reports, particularly in connection with the army's anticommunist crackdown.

The latest reports appeared to confirm earlier indications that the communist-hating army high command was in full control of the situation in Indonesia.

However, Radio Jakarta also carried reports that Sukarno had pledged to "arbitrate" the crisis between the army and the procommunist rebels.

Another broadcast quoted First Deputy Premier Subandrio, who also is foreign minister, as calling on the people to support the army's peace-restoration campaign and to pledge loyalty to Sukarno.

Indonesia's right-wing army appeared to have consolidated its hold. But Radio Jakarta broadcasts made it plain that Sukarno, 64, remains as head of state and the man who makes the appointments.

Draft Call Biggest Since Korean War

Washington (AP)—The military draft continued to climb steeply as the armed services asked Thursday for 45,224 draftees in December—an increase of 8,774 over the November call of 36,450.

It is the biggest request to the Selective Service System since near the end of the Korean War, when 53,000 men were inducted into uniform in May 1953.

The rising calls are in line with President Johnson's decision to build up the armed forces to deal with the conflict in Southeast Asia and keep needed strength elsewhere. Plans are to increase U.S. forces by 340,000 men, bringing the total to about 3 million.

5,024 For Marines

The Marines, who for the first time since the Korean War resorted to the draft in the quota set a month ago, asked for 5,024 men in December. That compares to a November request for 4,050 draftees.

The Army's share of the December quota is 40,200, compared to a request of 28,400 for November.

The Navy, which asked for 4,600 men in November—the first such call since 1956—made no request for a December quota.

The Air Force continued to ask for no draftees, confident of meeting its manpower needs with voluntary enlistees.

The Army procurement objective for enlisted men with no prior military service in December is 47,900 of which it expects 7,700 to be voluntary recruits.

The Marines are counting on 3,400 volunteers to fill out their no-prior service procurement goal of 8,424.

Thursday's announced quotas brings the total of draftees since September 1959 to 3,243,324. Quotas fell as low as 3,300 men per month a little more than a year ago.

But a lag in enlistments and then the buildup ordered because of the deepening U.S. involvement in Viet Nam led to the steeply rising inductions.

A Selective Service official said Nebraska's December quota has not be received, but noted the state's November quota was 287 in comparison with the national figure of 36,600.

OGO 2 In Orbit

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — A dragon fly-shaped satellite called OGO 2 shot into orbit around the earth's poles Thursday with instruments designed to measure radiations that might be a hazard to astronauts.

A U.S. space agency spokesman said troubles with the guidance system sent it 400 miles higher than planned but he did not believe 20 experiments the craft is to make will be affected.

After the launching the Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., reported that the spacecraft had locked on to the earth successfully. This meant that it was pointing in the right direction for performance of the experiments.

With its instrument-carrying booms and solar panels extended from its 6x3x3-foot body, the 1,150-pound craft has an over-all span of 80 feet, making it second only to the 96-foot folding-winged Pegasus.

Most Versatile

Called the most versatile unmanned satellite yet, OGO 2 is expected to map the lower portions of the earth's magnetic field, investigate the mysterious causes of the northern lights and study various energy particles trapped in the magnetic field.

OGO 2, for orbiting geophysical observatory, is the second of a series planned to investigate near-earth and interplanetary space.

It was boosted aloft early Thursday by a thrust-augmented Thor-Agena D rocket, heretofore used for small military satellites.

OGO 1 was launched Sept. 4, 1964, from Cape Kennedy, Fla. It went into a desired oval orbit extending 93,000 miles, but some of its instruments failed.

Second Titan Test Put Off

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — The second test flight of the Titan 3 military space rocket—an attempt to propel a "space switch engine" on an orbit-shifting mission — was postponed Thursday because of a number of technical problems.

The shot was rescheduled for 9 a.m. (ST) Friday.

The launching had been scheduled for mid-morning but was delayed by the series of troubles. Finally, in mid-afternoon, the count progressed to within five seconds of blastoff, only to encounter a battery problem.

Second Russian Communications Satellite Sent Up

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union Thursday launched its second "Lightning" communications satellite and said it will be used for testing a long-range radio and television system.

The Lightning — Molnia—satellite launching was the second Soviet space shot this month. It followed the Oct. 4 launching of Russia's Luna-7 which well-informed sources said Thursday came very close to making the first soft landing on the moon.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the "second Molnia I satellite" has already been used for telephone calls and an exchange of television programs between Moscow and Vladivostok.

Sources said that when Luna 7 crash-landed on the moon Oct. 7 it hit at 45 miles per hour, jarring its payload beyond use.

Three Frenchmen Win Nobel Prize For Discoveries In Genetic Control

Paris (AP) — Three French professors of the Pasteur Institute received a Nobel Prize Thursday for research in medicine that they said can aid mankind's campaign against cancer.

Profs Francois Jacob, Andre Lwoff and Jacques Monod also got long and standing ovations from their colleagues of the institute as they entered the Pasteur's grand amphitheatre for a news conference.

Earlier in the day in Stockholm, the Royal Caroline Institute Medical College faculty announced it was awarding the 1965 Nobel Prize for physiology and medicine to the three for discoveries concerning "the genetic control of enzyme and virus synthesis." The prize is worth $55,000.

Or, in laymen's terms, for discoveries on the nature and operation of the human cell.

In attempting to explain the award, Monod, Jacob and Lwoff said the discoveries would help to understand the operation of a human cell, and thus throw new light on the development of normal and the abnormal cells.

In reply to a question, Monod said this could help to understand the nature of cancer. But he cautioned that there is a great difference between understanding an abnormality such as cancer and the ability to correct it.

This was the first Nobel Prize for medicine given to France since 1928.

Frenchmen's Prize Spotlights One Of Science's Most Exciting Fields

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

New York (AP) — Thursday's Nobel Prize award again spotlights one of the most exciting fields in modern science.

The prize is for research toward understanding the genetic code of life, and how it actually functions. It is the fourth time since 1958 that the prize for medicine and physiology has recognized achievements in this endeavor.

Fuller or full understanding of the genetic code could lead to ability to prevent or correct inherited defects, to intentional design of superior animals, plants or even humans — even to the artificial creation of life.

Hundreds of scientists around the world are contributing discoveries, in rising tide, toward unraveling this complex mystery. But it is a mystery which some scientists suspect is at heart "simple" in the sense that nature achieves complexity by using a few basic materials and processes.

The genetic code determines all your inherited characteristics, and how all living cells behave, what they do.

Four 'Letters'

The code employs four basic chemical "letters." But just as the Morse Code with dots and dashes can spell out infinite sentences, so also can the genetic code spell out an infinite variety of "sentences" of instructions to shape heredity and to control life processes.

The code is contained in long strands of deoxy-ribonucleic acid (DNA), in the nucleus of every cell.

The instructions contained in a gene or unit of DNA are copied and carried by another nucleic acid, known as messenger-RNA, to the cytoplasm of the cell, and specifically to ribosomes, the "factories" that make proteins, the very stuff of life.

Pattern

At these factories the messenger-RNA serves as a pattern to make different kinds of proteins, which are all formed of some of 20 different amino acids.

Another form of ribonucleic acid, transfer-RNA, brings the amino acids to the "factories."

Now scientists are getting insights into how genes are turned "on" or "off," and other mechanisms of the wondrous process. Every cell of your body contains a full set of all the genes used by many different kinds of cells — be they heart, muscle, bone or brain cells.

First Glimpses

The controls that make only certain genes in a brain cell, for example, go into action while the same genes do not operate in a bone cell, now are beginning to be glimpsed.

Some secrets of the code are being solved. There are many yet remaining, and scientists are becoming optimistic that they will be solved.

A major contribution of the French scientists is evidence that there are regulator or "sparkplug" genes which are involved in turning other genes on or off to give various cells their specific functions.

They have described ways in which the sparkplug genes might be activated when the need arises.

Recovering LBJ Kissed By Courtenay

But he added that the President had discovered he was "weaker than anyone thought" and has been regaining strength only slowly.

Viet Policy Protest Set

By United Press International

Vociferous critics of United States involvement in the war in Viet Nam rallied their forces Thursday for a nationwide round of protest demonstrations.

Supporters of American policy in Southeast Asia planned counter-demonstrations. More than 600 California National Guardsmen were alerted against a possible outbreak of violence in the San Francisco Bay area.

Spokesmen for the National Coordinating Committee to End the War in Viet Nam said thousands of persons, would participate Friday and Saturday in protests in at least 71 cities in 28 states.

On the eve of the demonstrations, the Senate internal security subcommittee published a document reporting "substantial Communist infiltration" into the anti-Viet Nam movement.

A dozen members of the University of Wisconsin Committee to End the War in Viet Nam said they would try to make a citizens' arrest of the commanding officer at Truax Air Force Base near Madison on charges that he was an "accessory to murder."

A 35-hour teach-in was scheduled by the Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC) at the University of California's Sproul Hall Plaza, scene of last year's wild "free speech" demonstrations.

Students at the University of Texas in Austin staged occasional campus shouting matches Thursday as they collected signatures on petitions opposing and petitions supporting the U.S. position in Viet Nam.

Former president Dwight D. Eisenhower took a dim view of the anti-war demonstrations.

Rusk Compares Chinese Scheme With Hitler Plan

Washington (UPI) — Red China's newly enunciated blueprint for communist domination of the world rivals in brutality and ruthlessness the schemes of Adolf Hitler, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Thursday.

Rusk said the Communist Chinese policy outlined by two of Peking's two officials would culminate in "wars of annihilation."

The strategy described in public statements by Red Chinese Defense Minister Lin Piao and Foreign Minister Chen Yi was "as candid as Hitler's 'Mein Kampf,'" Rusk said, in an address to the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

Rusk Compares Chinese Scheme With Hitler Plan

Washington (UPI) — Red China's newly enunciated blueprint for communist domination of the world rivals in brutality and ruthlessness the schemes of Adolf Hitler, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Thursday.

Rusk said the Communist Chinese policy outlined by two of Peking's two officials would culminate in "wars of annihilation."

The strategy described in public statements by Red Chinese Defense Minister Lin Piao and Foreign Minister Chen Yi was "as candid as Hitler's 'Mein Kampf,'" Rusk said, in an address to the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

Peace Pipe Ceremonies Conclude Milford, Road Department's Battle

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Milford — The Milford Chamber of Commerce officially called off it battle with the State Department of Roads Thursday night.

Chamber President Willard Schlegel puffed a peace pipe with Dick Clark of Lincoln, project engineer for the department on the reconstruction of "three mile corner" north of Milford.

Removing Bottleneck

Residents of the community have been urging the state to rebuild the "death trap" bottleneck which has been the scene of many accidents and one fatality.

Clark explained that by the end of next week, when it is hoped the work will be completed, the intersection will allow north and south traffic to run straight, eliminating the offending S-turn.

Ramps will be narrowed, resurfaced and designated one-way for U.S. 6 traffic turning east from combined 6-15 and north onto State 15 from U.S. 6. Motorists coming from the east and heading south on 6-15, and those coming from the north and heading east on 6, will share a rebuilt 90-degree intersection with a dividing island.

Clark attended as the guest of H. L. Petersen, a strong voice in the highway protest, who had taken refreshments out to the road workers on behalf of the chamber.

Following the peace-pipe informalities, Lowell Welch, director of the Nebraska Vocational-Technical School, presented the institution's plans and prospects for the coming six years.

The three major construction projects for the coming biennium are:

—Removal of an outdated former hospital building used for classes, with additional automotive shop areas built in its place, attached to the present main building.

—Construction of another addition to the main structure to house basic mechanics classes, with diesel and fluid power sections moved into the present basic mechanics area.

—Construction of a new lecture hall, recreation and health center in the northeast area of the campus.

Welch said that students on the work-study program will probably be used to do clean-up and landscaping work around the grounds.

Building Program Told

Extended prospects for the school over the six-year state building program through 1971 have also been developed by the school staff.

In this period, Welch said the acquisition of an additional 30 acres west of the present campus is envisioned, with construction of dormitories, an expanded cafeteria, library and second main classroom building.

He also reeled off an expansive list of other areas of training that could be developed, moving into the fields such as graphic arts, hydraulics, aircraft mechanics, distribution and marketing.

"There are a lot of areas," said the director, "which we should go into before we start duplicating the programs we have."

First Skyscraper

Paris (AP)—France's first skyscraper, a 50-story office building, will go up on the northern rim of Paris during the next two years. It will have 59 elevators, a concert hall, a movie theater and a 4,000-car garage.

Only Half Wahoo Packing Plant Workers On Job

Wahoo—Officials of the Wahoo Packing Company were still in the dark Thursday as to why about half of the plant's 43 employes failed to appear for work the past two days.

The action came as a complete surprise, according to Jack Runyan, president of the company. Whether or not it is a strike is not known, he added.

No notice of the walkout was given to the plant officials, Runyan stated.

A year ago in August workers voted to join a union, he explained, but to date no definite action has been taken. An election, under the auspices of the National Labor Relations Board had been scheduled for Thursday, Runyan said.

Operations at the plant were not halted by the walkout, the president declared. The plant opened two years ago Sept. 18.

Pennsylvanian Chosen As Postmasters' Prexy

Omaha (AP) — The National Association of Postmasters elected James L O'Toole of Sharon, Pa., president Thursday and picked Hot Springs, Ark., for its convention three years hence.

O'Toole

The association acted at the windup of the current convention which attracted some 3,000, more than half of them women.

John A. Gronouski, who left postmaster generalship to become ambassador to Poland, spoke at a banquet Thursday night. Gronouski's successor in the cabinet post, Lawrence F. O'Brien, originally was scheduled to make the address.

Nebraskan Renamed

Named vice presidents of the association Thursday were Daniel McCarthy, Asonia, Conn.; William J. Dunn, Miles City, Mont.; Kenneth J. Lohr, Woodville, Ohio; Mrs. Ada M. Cheney, Stephens, Ga., and Leigh F. Coffin, Beatrice, Neb. Coffin and Mrs. Cheney were re-elected. Also re-elected was Roger T. Gilbert, Dexter, Maine, secretary-treasurer.

The postmasters will convene next year in Louisville, Ky., and in San Juan, Puerto Rico, in 1967. Those sites had been selected previously.

The association directed its president to do whatever is necessary to achieve a merger with the National League of Postmasters. A convention resolution noted that 95% of the nation's postmasters have voted in favor of a single organization.

The postmasters gave their support to the continued use of the controversial lookout galleries in post offices. "Because of these lookout galleries a large percentage of mail thefts are detected," said a resolution.

The Post Office Department plan to establish a "priority" class of mail in 1967 won association approval as did the department's plan to move all parcel post by the most expeditious means.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., predicted to the final convention session that federal workers will get a pay raise totaling close to 4% from Congress before it adjourns.

McGee, a member of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, counseled against attempts to go further this year. Facing heavy expenditures in Viet Nam, President Johnson would not "look with favor on pay raise legislation which he considered to be out of line," McGee said.

Overheated Generator Given Blame

. . . For Missile Smoke

Lorenzo (AP)—The Air Force sealed off a Minuteman missile site Thursday after smoke began pouring from one of its structures.

Fire Chief Harvey Vizina of nearby Sidney said an overheated generator was to blame. He said maintenance men decended into the missile silo and switched it off, apparently ending any danger.

At Warren Air Force Base in Cheyenne, Wyo., a spokesman said there was no danger of a nuclear explosion nor need for evacuation.

Fire departments from Sidney and Peetz, Colo., were called to the site after two airmen saw the rising smoke. Those who arrived later said the smoke appeared to be rising through a raised vent at the top of the silo.

The Air Force said the extent of the damage had not been appraised.

The site, one of a complex in the Cheyenne area, is five miles west of Lorenzo.

Warren officials said the exhaust unit for a diesel engine failed to operate. A maintenance team shut down the diesel and unit and then activated the exhaust unit to dissipate the smoke.

Vizina said the generator was connected with the exhaust system.

Kearney Airport Funds Increased

Washington (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency has approved a $22,258 increase in the allocation of airport improvement funds for the Kearney, Neb., Municipal Airport for the current fiscal year, Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., was informed.

The FAA said the increase is for a project related to overlay of the north-south runway.

Phone Cables Cut

Omaha (AP) — Two cables were cut and a third damaged during the widening of Dodge Street. The accident left about 2,500 homes without telephone service.

Removing Bottleneck

Residents of the community have been urging the state to rebuild the "death trap" bottleneck which has been the scene of many accidents and one fatality.

Clark explained that by the end of next week, when it is hoped the work will be completed, the intersection will allow north and south traffic to run straight, eliminating the offending S-turn.

Ramps will be narrowed, resurfaced and designated one-way for U.S. 6 traffic turning east from combined 6-15 and north onto State 15 from U.S. 6. Motorists coming from the east and heading south on 6-15, and those coming from the north and heading east on 6, will share a rebuilt 90-degree intersection with a dividing island.

Clark attended as the guest of H. L. Petersen, a strong voice in the highway protest, who had taken refreshments out to the road workers on behalf of the chamber.

Following the peace-pipe informalities, Lowell Welch, director of the Nebraska Vocational-Technical School, presented the institution's plans and prospects for the coming six years.

The three major construction projects for the coming biennium are:

—Removal of an outdated former hospital building used for classes, with additional automotive shop areas built in its place, attached to the present main building.

—Construction of another addition to the main structure to house basic mechanics classes, with diesel and fluid power sections moved into the present basic mechanics area.

—Construction of a new lecture hall, recreation and health center in the northeast area of the campus.

Welch said that students on the work-study program will probably be used to do clean-up and landscaping work around the grounds.

Building Program Told

Extended prospects for the school over the six-year state building program through 1971 have also been developed by the school staff.

In this period, Welch said the acquisition of an additional 30 acres west of the present campus is envisioned, with construction of dormitories, an expanded cafeteria, library and second main classroom building.

He also reeled off an expansive list of other areas of training that could be developed, moving into the fields such as graphic arts, hydraulics, aircraft mechanics, distribution and marketing.

"There are a lot of areas," said the director, "which we should go into before we start duplicating the programs we have."

First Skyscraper

Paris (AP)—France's first skyscraper, a 50-story office building, will go up on the northern rim of Paris during the next two years. It will have 50 elevators, a concert hall, a movie theater and a 4,000-car garage.

Only Half Wahoo Packing Plant Workers On Job

Wahoo—Officials of the Wahoo Packing Company were still in the dark Thursday as to why about half of the plant's 43 employes failed to appear for work the past two days.

The action came as a complete surprise, according to Jack Runyan, president of the company. Whether or not it is a strike is not known, he added.

No notice of the walkout was given to the plant officials, Runyan stated.

A year ago in August workers voted to join a union, he explained, but to date no definite action has been taken. An election, under the auspices of the National Labor Relations Board had been scheduled for Thursday, Runyan said.

Operations at the plant were not halted by the walkout, the president declared. The plant opened two years ago Sept. 18.

Pennsylvanian Chosen As Postmasters' Prexy

Omaha (AP) — The National Association of Postmasters elected James L. O'Toole of Sharon, Pa., president Thursday and picked Hot Springs, Ark., for its convention three years hence.

O'Toole

The association acted at the windup of the current convention which attracted some 3,000, more than half of them women.

John A. Gronouski, who left postmaster generalship to become ambassador to Poland, spoke at a banquet Thursday night. Gronouski's successor in the cabinet post, Lawrence F. O'Brien, originally was scheduled to make the address.

Nebraskan Renamed

Named vice presidents of the association Thursday were Daniel McCarthy, Asonia, Conn.; William J. Dunn, Miles City, Mont.; Kenneth J. Lohr, Woodville, Ohio; Mrs. Ada M. Cheney, Stephens, Ga., and Leigh F. Coffin, Beatrice, Neb. Coffin and Mrs. Cheney were re-elected. Also re-elected was Roger T. Gilbert, Dexter, Maine, secretary-treasurer.

The postmasters will convene next year in Louisville, Ky., and in San Juan, Puerto Rico, in 1967. Those sites had been selected previously.

The association directed its president to do whatever is necessary to achieve a merger with the National League of Postmasters. A convention resolution noted that 95% of the nation's postmasters have voted in favor of a single organization.

The postmasters gave their support to the continued use of the controversial lookout galleries in post offices. "Because of these lookout galleries a large percentage of mail thefts are detected," said a resolution.

The Post Office Department plan to establish a "priority" class of mail in 1967 won association approval as did the department's plan to move all parcel post by the most expeditious means.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., predicted to the final convention session that federal workers will get a pay raise totaling close to 4% from Congress before it adjourns.

McGee, a member of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, counseled against attempts to go further this year. Facing heavy expenditures in Viet Nam, President Johnson would not "look with favor on pay raise legislation which he considered to be out of line," McGee said.

Overheated Generator Given Blame

. . . For Missile Smoke

Lorenzo (AP)—The Air Force sealed off a Minuteman missile site Thursday after smoke began pouring from one of its structures.

Fire Chief Harvey Vizina of nearby Sidney said an overheated generator was to blame. He said maintenance men decended into the missile silo and switched it off, apparently ending any danger.

At Warren Air Force Base in Cheyenne, Wyo., a spokesman said there was no danger of a nuclear explosion nor need for evacuation.

Fire departments from Sidney and Peetz, Colo., were called to the site after two airmen saw the rising smoke. Those who arrived later said the smoke appeared to be rising through a raised vent at the top of the silo.

The Air Force said the extent of the damage had not been appraised.

The site, one of a complex in the Cheyenne area, is five miles west of Lorenzo.

Warren officials said the exhaust unit for a diesel engine failed to operate. A maintenance team shut down the diesel and unit and then activated the exhaust unit to dissipate the smoke.

Vizina said the generator was connected with the exhaust system.

Kearney Airport Funds Increased

Washington (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency has approved a $22,258 increase in the allocation of airport improvement funds for the Kearney, Neb., Municipal Airport for the current fiscal year, Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., was informed.

The FAA said the increase is for a project related to overlay of the north-south runway.

Phone Cables Cut

Omaha (AP) — Two cables were cut and a third amaged during the widening of Dodge Street. The accident left about 2,500 homes without telephone service.

Planners Limit One-Ways

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The City-County Planning Commission has taken what should be next to the final step in the changing of Lincoln's downtown traffic plan. And the group recommended the city shelve for the time any thoughts of a mall for the city's main business district. The traffic plan called for is a relatively simple one, adding only P westbound and N eastbound to the existing one-way street system.

This plan is in contr t to one proposed by the City Council and City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger which would make all the streets in downtown, with the exception of O, one-way arterials. This city plan would include a one-way pattern on present north-south streets now carrying two-way traffic. Not only should the commission action be the last of its kind, but its position is one of merit. The city plan would reverse the present use of P and Q as one-ways for a block between 9th and 10th.

Commission Plan Good

Intersections of 9th and 10th with P and Q have already been signalized primarily in accordance with existing one-way uses and to reverse them would be some expense. At 9th and P, however, signals seem to have been installed for any eventuality, a display of forethought, perhaps, but an obvious waste of money in the case of either one-way pattern.

This, incidentally, is a practice that does not endear the city to the driving public. People who see money squandered on needless traffic signals are inclined to be critical of public spending, and with justification. The city is becoming cluttered with signal lights at intersections for traffic lanes that do not even exist. Also, multiple lights are often used when far fewer would adequately do the job.

Additionally, Q St. has been developed at some considerable expense for use as a one-way eastbound in connection with 9th feeding into the city from the Interstate. We do not approve of the state's arbitrary methods in the dictation of city traffic patterns and plans but this is something that is an accomplished fact. State Engineer John Hossack appeared at the Planning Commission meeting in favor of the limited one-way system the group adopted. But his testimony appeared to be much more dictatorial than suggestive. It is obvious to anyone that the state, city and federal government must work together since the road systems of all three intertwine but the state and federal government frequently become fixed in their position regardless of local feelings, opinions and knowledge.

There is a further point that seems to favor the Planning Commission approach. The purpose of one-way streets is to move traffic and this, it has been proven, they will do. But for short trip purposes, they are an inconvenience. In downtown Lincoln you have both kinds of traffic, through and extremely limited. Some people are wanting to get through the downtown as quickly as possible while others may be going only a block or two from one place to another or finding a place to stop. The limited one-way streets adopted by the commission would help considerably in moving through traffic but would not enforce the inconvenience of a total one-way plan.

Also, the one-way plan proposed by the commission has the advantage of flexibility. It could be changed in the future if such were demanded much more easily than the more comprehensive plan proposed by the city. Nor is there any reason we can see that the commission plan could not be extended with little trouble at any time that traffic movement might demand it.

The matter of commission action being final applies to both one-way streets and the mall. Unfortunately, it seems obvious that a consensus, to use the currently popular political term, cannot be obtained on the mall. One or two people do not make a consensus and this is the most that is generally produced in favor of a mall.

At the commission hearing, downtown business interests were represented by one person who proposed that the issue be deferred. The mall should be deferred and no longer bandied about as a complicating factor in traffic, parking and other projects for downtown Lincoln. Lincoln by indecision, it seems, has settled this question in the negative and to keep it cooking on the front burner is only to complicate efforts in other areas and to confuse the public. Eternal debate often leads to an undermining of public confidence and that is a risk we need not run.

Decision By Indecision

The street plan, too, has been hashed over for too long as it is, probably contributing to more conservatism in downtown progress than we might suspect. The final decision is now before the City Council and it is hoped that this group avoids any further unnecessary delays. There can be no public complaint that these programs have not been adequately aired.

House Debates, Misses The Party

Editor's Note: Today's column is by Drew Pearson's associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—The vitriolic battle over Lady Bird's beautification bill might have gone otherwise if Speaker John McCormack had listened to the advice of his friend, the President. Early in the evening when the beautification bill was under debate, President Johnson telephoned Speaker McCormack to suggest that debate be suspended until the next day to permit the House of Representatives to attend his White House reception in their honor.

But McCormack said no. He would lose the steam of the debate, he said, and they would have to pick up the pieces and do it all over again the next day. He gave the President a flat veto.

Meanwhile, at the White House, the most elaborate preparation of the year had been made to pay tribute to Congress. A high-priced array of talent from New York was on hand, including Fredric March, Gordon and Sheila MacRae, the Ned Odum boys, Hugh O'Brien, Robert Merrill, Mahalia Jackson, the Serendipity Singers, Anita Bryant and a group called "Your Father's Mustache."

☆ ☆ ☆

The members of Congress, together with these guests, were to assemble at the White House for one drink, then go to heated buses parked at the rear entrance of the White House to proceed to the State Department for the entertainment. The foyer of the State Department had been decorated to look like the entrance of the White House, and the portraits of Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson had been brought in to hang on the entrance walls.

The Odum boys were to strum a tribute to Congress as the members made their grand entrance.

Instead, however, senators and the glittering celebrities who had come to entertain them waited impatiently in the White House. Even more impatient was the President.

At this point all the performers were at the White House, none at the State Department, and it would take them some time to put on their makeup and get ready. This made no difference to the President. Buoyantly he headed toward the waiting limousine, flanked by Sheila MacRae and Fredric March.

At the State Department the President waited patiently while the performers got ready. Then the show began. It was a smash hit.

GOP Has Chance In New Jersey

WASHINGTON — Republicans have a great deal riding on the New Jersey election this fall which will name both the governor and all members of the Legislature for the first time in this century. They have not been able to do much about it nationally and the state party is in disarray.

Out of power at the statehouse for the past 12 years, a conservative majority in the state Senate has done a fairly effective job of frustrating the Democratic chief executives on major issues, including tax reform. Now that remaining citadel is managed by the apparent popularity of Gov. Richard J. Hughes.

If Hughes wins a second term by the margin indicated in the polls, observers believe that for the first time in 50 years Democrats may control the Legislature. This prospect has predictably further weakened the Republican nominee for governor, State Senator Wayne Dumont.

In the classic pattern his legislative colleagues are concentrating on saving themselves. National leaders who have been trying to help the top of the ticket are powerless to interfere with this process. Some of them console themselves with the thought that repudiation of entrenched members of the Old Guard will in the end signal rejuvenation of the split and feuding state party.

In recent weeks Dumont has improved his percentage in the polls by use of what he calls an anti-communist issue and what Governor Hughes terms an issue of academic freedom. The difficulty with it is that it also divides New Jersey Republicans. The liberals shy from accepting it as a contribution to better government and don't like it anyway. The Birch types love it.

For example, Sen. Clifford Case, the state's senior senator and a liberal, is campaigning for his party throughout the state but never mentions Dumont's favorite issue. Senator Case is a prodigious vote-getter who won by 332,000 in 1960 when Richard Nixon was losing New Jersey to John F. Kennedy by 22,000.

Dumont plucked his issue from a teach-in last April at Rutgers where Rutgers Prof. Eugene Genovese said he was a Marxist and socialist and therefore did not fear or regret the impending Viet Cong victory. The tape shows that he said he was revealing personal convictions because he wanted to put his listeners on guard against his prejudices.

This suggests a possibly overcommitted but honest intellectual and certainly one politically naive. As Dumont points out, Rutgers is a state university. Its board, with Governor Hughes' backing, has not fired him and upheld his permanent tenure as a teacher of history, voted just before the teach-in.

Luckily for him, Governor Hughes is a Roman Catholic. He remarried a widow after being widowed and between them they have 10 children, his, hers and theirs. His situation does not readily lend itself to the notion that he is soft on communism.

Nixon, whose checkered career on that issue is justly celebrated, enters New Jersey next week, and the Nixon watchers, a large and opinionated club, will be on the alert. It is, in fact, important because Nixon is giving the next Republican presidential nomination another old Stassen try.

Democratic big names are invading the state also to gain credit for boosting the Huges majority now promised them. They are led by — who else? — the vice-president and Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Two Approaches To Shopping

By MONA B. PARKER

That one lone dissenting voice to the contrary—Helen Lough's in the Albion News—everyone else has declared in favor of the bright blue weather . . .

The Wakefield Republican believes that "October has been nature's way of apologizing for September's monsoon. Never have so many enjoyed so much at so little cost as when autumn leaves turn into a crisp riot of rainbows resting in trees . . ."

Gladys Lindstrom, in the Gresham Gazette: "The leaves are turning color and some are falling. The wind chases them across the lawns and streets like a kitten chasing its tail. The air has a zip and zest . . . late fall flowers are still blooming . . . lawns are green . . . Gosh, this is a grand time of the year!"

Mary Packwood, in the Johnson County Courier: "Maybe when the blizzard howls around us this winter, I'll wish I were somewhere else, but this week, never!"

Maybe, according to Lloyd Kain in the Lexington Clipper, football fans will convince themselves "they can tolerate the swaying of the north stands as the Brooks family did the swaying of the governor's mansion when it was first built."

Apparently the word is getting around, because John Sanders commented, also, in the Auburn Press-Tribune. "It really isn't funny, but there's some form of continuity in unusual reports from Lincoln the past few years. First there were the swaying floors in the governor's mansion. Next, the swaying towers at the State Fair. And now the new seating at Memorial Stadium has the disease."

Men just don't understand the way women's minds work. And it's just as well. And advisable not to try. As a matter of fact, a truthful woman will admit that she doesn't understand that complex mechanism, either, either personally or among the sisterhood . . .

M. G. Williams of the Scotia Register seemed a little bewildered when he admitted that "Christmas shopping is getting under way at our place. It surely can't be that late." By contrast, he explained how a man goes about it...

"Why, a man buys his wife's gift after 5 p.m. on December 24 and usually leaves 'it' up to the judgment of a trusted sales person who knows the sizes and likes of the lady of the house."

☆ ☆ ☆

Ruth Leadabrand had the perfect explanation for Mr. Williams, in her Ashland Gazette items, in a typical example of feminine illogic . . .

"I did a little early Christmas shopping Monday evening. I go shopping around Christmas only to absorb the feeling of the holiday in the bustling crowds. I'd hate to do any shopping of importance then."

There is no scarcity of ardent Cornhusker football fans this year, but triumph rarely lacks a full house. Let the tide of victory ebb a little, however, and the loyal followers are separated in short order from fair-weather friends. The Sargent Leader presents its nomination for No. 1 Fan. Dr. W. W. Steen has seen all but three of the Huskers' home games over the past 15 years and, as the Leader describes them, some of those were "pretty painful." Half the battle in some instances was getting to and from the games through November ice storms and whatever else the weather had to offer. A bit of calculation estimates that the doctor has traveled 30,000 miles in pursuit of football fortunes. And, loyal as he has been during the lean years, he's as much in favor of winning as anyone else. "This fall it's worth every inch of it."

Fine Political Line

Resignation of Butler Shaffer, Lincoln attorney, from the Republican State Central Committee demonstrates the problem faced by the GOP. Shaffer resigned, he said, because party leaders are waging a clearly defined attack "on conservative Republicans."

Shaffer expressed his own political philosophy and added that it was in conflict with that of the party leaders of whom he spoke. He said he "cannot, in good conscience, support any organization dedicated to such a purpose—" that purpose being at odds with his own.

A political party, be it Democratic or Republican, is a highly complicated thing. It has within its membership a broad representation of thought. Many people are of such moderate leanings that they might well feel equally at home in either party.

It is this diversity that the GOP has been unable to handle. Rather than the Republican party's containing certain of its strongly conservative elements, these elements have sought to contain the party. The conservatives have not been content to have a voice and to live by any majority decision but seek to be the final authority in all matters.

Thus, the GOP does face the task of maintaining its historic position and philosophy or abandoning itself to the conservatives. It is the conservative element that has aborted traditional political practices, not the GOP that has denounced the conservatives. It is Mr. Shaffer and those who think as he does who are at fault, not the Republican party.

The Czech Problem

Red Czechoslovakia would like to sell more goods to the United States, but it is doubtful they will make it on the first try.

No matter what government happens to be in power or what ideology it represents, Czechoslovakia continues to be a good producer of wanted goods. But currently, being in the Red orbit, its foreign trade is poor. It would like to get a piece of U.S. trade, where payments are prompt and the money is good anywhere. We don't blame that country for trying.

But the United States has a most favored nation trade and tariff policy and Czechoslovakia is not on the most favored list. That means that if the Czechs would like to sell their famous glass chandeliers here the tariff would be 70 percent. France, a most favored nation, could sell its chandeliers here after paying only 30 percent duty.

But before Czechoslovakia can get on our most favored list its case will have to be examined by Congress. And this is going to hurt.

Czechoslovakia, in a nonmilitary way, has helped Cuba more than all the rest. Last year it built 11 factories in Cuba, an outlay of almost 80 million for which it received in down payment some $24 million in Cuban sugar. The sugar is a burden to Czechoslovakia because it produces its own, and the inetrnational market is rather saturated. There is no telling when Cuba can make any more payments.

This is not the sort of record that will impress Congress, which is most apt to take the view that stimulated U.S. trade at this time would be only a way to get Czechoslovakia off the hook.

Castro's Puzzle

Fidel Castro will have to be a greatly different man than he has been if we are to trust his intentions in releasing Cubans, seeking homes in the United States.

He has apparently a large number of takers of his offer and it is significant that this new wave is of a different economic strata than the earlier ones.

First came the wealthy and high placed. Next came the middle class, the business and professional people. This was understandable, because the Castro revolution was aimed at them. But now come many of the working class. These were the ones who were originally overjoyed with Castroism.

Castro's surprising release of unhappy Cubans may have been self-centered. Getting them out of the country is one way of relieving both unemployment and tendencies toward counter revolution. It is also a way of handing us a problem. It may be a new form of purge.

Then again, Cuba is living off Russia's largess to the tune of approximately $1 million a day. There may be some Russian suggestion behind this exporting of Cuban natives. It may be a covert Russian action for better coexistence.

And it may also spring from the disappearance of Che Guevara, Castro's one-time right hand man and an unending revolutionist. Guevara has simply vanished and possibly with him went a great part of the Cuban feud between Chinese communism and Russian communism.

But in any event Fidel Castro has not said. Time will probably give the answer.

Castro is evidently suffering the slings of all revolutionists. Their cause generally begins and ends in revolutions and they are notoriously bad administrators. Perhaps he is running out of gas.

Woman's Place

Omaha, Neb.

Ever since we elected a woman to the Omaha City Council, I have been wondering why women have been held back so long. In 1921 American women won suffrage. Most of us husbands have abolished slavery. But I still remind my better half that "man" was created in the image of God. It was "men" who inspired by God to write the Bible. Jesus Christ was the "Son" of God, not the "Daughter" of God. The Bible says "man" is to preach from the pulpit while woman is to remain silent in church.

Let me remind these working wives that man is supposed to work by the sweat of his brow, and women are to suffer from childbirth.

Lincoln, Neb.

Quite obviously, the sales or income taxes now being imposed upon taxpayers of our sister states do not appear to produce winning football teams. When these states get busy and either abolish or repeal such onerous and unnecessary taxes, they may again start producing some winning football teams.

Until then, Nebraska as a non-sales-tax and non-income tax state will continue to top the football score boards.

Ten Commandments

Lincoln, Neb.

I would like to express my appreciation for the very inspiring series on the Ten Commandments. I cannot fathom the power of imagination that would lead one to criticize this series. I certainly cannot twist my thinking to justify even one of the criticisms offered.

When the Ten Commandments were the basis of our laws, the presidents did not have to appoint committees to study crime, and riots were not the order of the day. God's name was honored instead of used in slang, parents were respected, and Sunday was observed as a holy day instead of a holiday. The tragic collapse of the ride at the fairgrounds at 11:15 on Sunday, the time people should have been in church, is only one of the reminders that we cannot ignore the laws of God.

If the Ten Commandments were the basis of our laws today, alcohol would not be licensed and sold to kill 24,000 on our highways each year, and cigarettes would not be sold to kill 48,000 with lung cancer and 300,000 with emphysema. For the Commandments say, "Thou shalt not kill." Gambling and liquor would not rob thousands of children of food and clothing, for the Commandments say, "Thou shalt not steal." I believe that people who deal in these products will be held just as responsible for the deaths caused in the final judgment as the people who cause the deaths by their use. If a person were found deliberately polluting the water supply with typhoid bacillus, it would certainly be considered a crime. But liquor dealers can pollute the streams of life and cause thousands of deaths, and it is legal.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

Inasmuch as October 10 through October 16, 1965, is designated as National Newspaper Week, it is appropriate that we recognize this opportunity to give recognition to the contribution made by news media and the service they have rendered in behalf of farm programs and problems of producers of agricultural products. We have appreciated the cooperation of Editor Bill Dobler, Executive Editor W. Earl Dyer, Jr., and Farm Editor Glenn Kreuscher.

This is of even greater importance in a state like Nebraska where agriculture is the leading industry and as agriculture economy goes, so goes Nebraska economy.

We therefore would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation for The Star's interest and effort demonstrated in the past year. Adequate information is an important ingredient in our effort and The Star has helped us accomplish this goal.

The Mall

Lincoln, Neb.

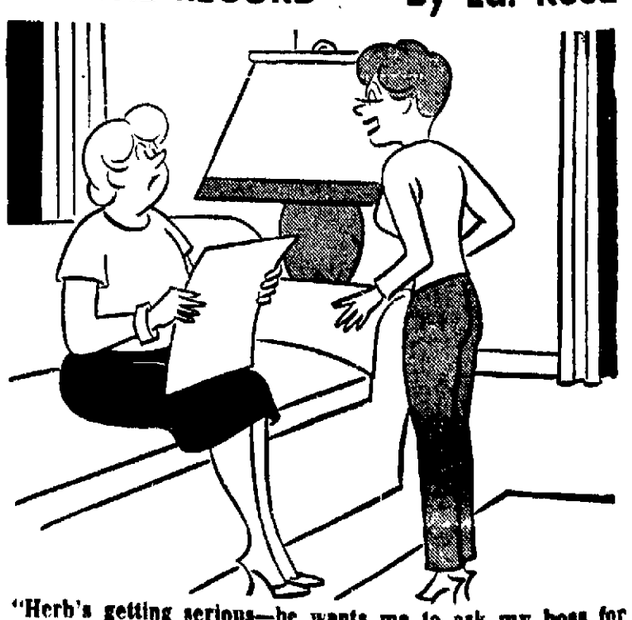

Thank goodness, the idea of a mall for downtown Lincoln has been put aside, as it should have been long ago. The City-County Planning Commission should be congratulated for its wise decision in this matter, and for not going off half-cocked on what would have been a very impractical and almost impossible plan for downtown business improvement.

A mall for downtown just would not be feasible, from any angle. The lay of the land prohibits it, mainly. A beautified spot is fine for some of the smaller side areas and shopping spots, such as Gateway. But it was planned and laid out that way. None of the insurmountable problems of traffic, access, parking or expense that would confront downtown were present in the planning of the smaller malls.

There is hope yet that common sense prevails. Lady Bird Johnson to the contrary, I am glad that the mall idea is out the window. We have more urgent local problems to deal with than that.

This plan is in contrast to one proposed by the City Council and City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger which would make all the streets in downtown, with the exception of O, one-way arterials. This city plan would include a one-way pattern on present north-south streets now carrying two-way traffic. Not only should the commission action be the last of its kind, but its position is one of merit. The city plan would reverse the present use of P and Q as one-ways for a block between 9th and 10th.

Commission Plan Good

Intersections of 9th and 10th with P and Q have already been signalized primarily in accordance with existing one-way uses and to reverse them would be some expense. At 9th and P, however, signals seem to have been installed for any eventuality, a display of forethought, perhaps, but an obvious waste of money in the case of either one-way pattern.

This, incidentally, is a practice that does not endear the city to the driving public. People who see money squandered on needless traffic signals are inclined to be critical of public spending, and with justification. The city is becoming cluttered with signal lights at intersections for traffic lanes that do not even exist. Also, multiple lights are often used when far fewer would adequately do the job.

Additionally, Q St. has been developed at some considerable expense for use as a one-way eastbound in connection with 9th feeding into the city from the Interstate. We do not approve of the state's arbitrary methods in the dictation of city traffic patterns and plans but this is something that is an accomplished fact. State Engineer John Hossack appeared at the Planning Commission meeting in favor of the limited one-way system the group adopted. But his testimony appeared to be much more dictatorial than suggestive. It is obvious to anyone that the state, city and federal government must work together since the road systems of all three intertwine but the state and federal government frequently become fixed in their position regardless of local feelings, opinions and knowledge.

There is a further point that seems to favor the Planning Commission approach. The purpose of one-way streets is to move traffic and this, it has been proven, they will do. But for short trip purposes, they are an inconvenience. In downtown Lincoln you have both kinds of traffic, through and extremely limited. Some people are wanting to get through the downtown as quickly as possible while others may be going only a block or two from one place to another or finding a place to stop. The limited one-way streets adopted by the commission would help considerably in moving through traffic but would not enforce the inconvenience of a total one-way plan.

Also, the one-way plan proposed by the commission has the advantage of flexibility. It could be changed in the future if such were demanded much more easily than the more comprehensive plan proposed by the city. Nor is there any reason we can see that the commission plan could not be extended with little trouble at any time that traffic movement might demand it.

The matter of commission action being final applies to both one-way streets and the mall. Unfortunately, it seems obvious that a consensus, to use the currently popular political term, cannot be obtained on the mall. One or two people do not make a consensus and this is the most that is generally produced in favor of a mall.

At the commission hearing, downtown business interests were represented by one person who proposed that the issue be deferred. The mall should be deferred and no longer bandied about as a complicating factor in traffic, parking and other projects for downtown Lincoln. Lincoln by indecision, it seems, has settled this question in the negative and to keep it cooking on the front burner is only to complicate efforts in other areas and to confuse the public. Eternal debate often leads to an undermining of public confidence and that is a risk we need not run.

Decision By Indecision

The street plan, too, has been hashed over for too long as it is, probably contributing to more conservatism in downtown progress than we might suspect. The final decision is now before the City Council and it is hoped that this group avoids any further unnecessary delays. There can be no public complaint that these programs have not been adequately aired.

House Debates, Misses The Party

Editor's Note: Today's column is by Drew Pearson's associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—The vitriolic battle over Lady Bird's beautification bill might have gone otherwise if Speaker John McCormack had listened to the advice of his friend, the President. Early in the evening when the beautification bill was under debate, President Johnson telephoned Speaker McCormack to suggest that debate be suspended until the next day to permit the House of Representatives to attend his White House reception in their honor.

But McCormack said no. He would lose the steam of the debate, he said, and they would have to pick up the pieces and do it all over again the next day. He gave the President a flat veto.

Meanwhile, at the White House, the most elaborate preparation of the year had been made to pay tribute to Congress. A high-priced array of talent from New York was on hand, including Fredric March, Gordon and Sheila MacRae, the Ned Odum boys, Hugh O'Brien, Robert Merrill, Mahalia Jackson, the Serendipity Singers, Anita Bryant and a group called "Your Father's Mustache."

☆ ☆ ☆

The members of Congress, together with these guests, were to assemble at the White House for one drink, then go to heated buses parked at the rear entrance of the White House to proceed to the State Department for the entertainment. The foyer of the State Department had been decorated to look like the entrance of the White House, and the portraits of Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson had been brought in to hang on the entrance walls.

The Odum boys were to strum a tribute to Congress as the members made their grand entrance.

Instead, however, senators and the glittering celebrities who had come to entertain them waited impatiently in the White House. Even more impatient was the President.

At this point all the performers were at the White House, none at the State Department, and it would take them some time to put on their makeup and get ready. This made no difference to the President. Buoyantly he headed toward the waiting limousine, flanked by Sheila MacRae and Fredric March.

At the State Department the President waited patiently while the performers got ready. Then the show began. It was a smash hit.

GOP Has Chance In New Jersey

WASHINGTON — Republicans have a great deal riding on the New Jersey election this fall which will name both the governor and all members of the Legislature for the first time in this century. They have not been able to do much about it nationally and the state party is in disarray.

Out of power at the statehouse for the past 12 years, a conservative majority in the state Senate has done a fairly effective job of frustrating the Democratic chief executives on major issues, including tax reform. Now that remaining citadel is managed by the apparent popularity of Gov. Richard J. Hughes.

If Hughes wins a second term by the margin indicated in the polls, observers believe that for the first time in 50 years Democrats may control the Legislature. This prospect has predictably further weakened the Republican nominee for governor, State Senator Wayne Dumont.

In the classic pattern his legislative colleagues are concentrating on saving themselves. National leaders who have been trying to help the top of the ticket are powerless to interfere with this process. Some of them console themselves with the thought that repudiation of entrenched members of the Old Guard will in the end signal rejuvenation of the split and feuding state party.

In recent weeks Dumont has improved his percentage in the polls by use of what he calls an anti-communist issue and what Governor Hughes terms an issue of academic freedom. The difficulty with it is that it also divides New Jersey Republicans. The liberals shy from accepting it as a contribution to better government and don't like it anyway. The Birch types love it.

For example, Sen. Clifford Case, the state's senior senator and a liberal, is campaigning for his party throughout the state but never mentions Dumont's favorite issue. Senator Case is a prodigious vote-getter who won by 332,000 in 1960 when Richard Nixon was losing New Jersey to John F. Kennedy by 22,000.

Dumont plucked his issue from a teach-in last April at Rutgers where Rutgers Prof. Eugene Genovese said he was a Marxist and socialist and therefore did not fear or regret the impending Viet Cong victory. The tape shows that he said he was revealing personal convictions because he wanted to put his listeners on guard against his prejudices.

This suggests a possibly overcommitted but honest intellectual and certainly one politically naive. As Dumont points out, Rutgers is a state university. Its board, with Governor Hughes' backing, has not fired him and upheld his permanent tenure as a teacher of history, voted just before the teach-in.

Luckily for him, Governor Hughes is a Roman Catholic. He remarried a widow after being widowed and between them they have 10 children, his, hers and theirs. His situation does not readily lend itself to the notion that he is soft on communism.

Nixon, whose checkered career on that issue is justly celebrated, enters New Jersey next week, and the Nixon watchers, a large and opinionated club, will be on the alert. It is, in fact, important because Nixon is giving the next Republican presidential nomination another old Stassen try.

Democratic big names are invading the state also to gain credit for boosting the Huges majority now promised them. They are led by — who else? — the vice-president and Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Two Approaches To Shopping

By MONA B. PARKER

That one lone dissenting voice to the contrary—Helen Lough's in the Albion News—everyone else has declared in favor of the bright blue weather . . .

The Wakefield Republican believes that "October has been nature's way of apologizing for September's monsoon. Never have so many enjoyed so much at so little cost as when autumn leaves turn into a crisp riot of rainbows resting in trees . . ."

Gladys Lindstrom, in the Gresham Gazette: "The leaves are turning color and some are falling. The wind chases them across the lawns and streets like a kitten chasing its tail. The air has a zip and zest . . . late fall flowers are still blooming . . . lawns are green . . . Gosh, this is a grand time of the year!"

Mary Packwood, in the Johnson County Courier: "Maybe when the blizzard howls around us this winter, I'll wish I were somewhere else, but this week, never!"

☆ ☆ ☆

Maybe, according to Lloyd Kain in the Lexington Clipper, football fans will convince themselves "they can tolerate the swaying of the north stands as the Brooks family did the swaying of the governor's mansion when it was first built."

Apparently the word is getting around, because John Sanders commented, also, in the Auburn Press-Tribune. "It really isn't funny, but there's some form of continuity in unusual reports from Lincoln the past few years. First there were the swaying floors in the governor's mansion. Next, the swaying towers at the State Fair. And now the new seating at Memorial Stadium has the disease."

Men just don't understand the way women's minds work. And it's just as well. And advisable not to try. As a matter of fact, a truthful woman will admit that she doesn't understand that complex mechanism, either, either personally or among the sisterhood . . .

M. G. Williams of the Scotia Register seemed a little bewildered when he admitted that "Christmas shopping is getting under way at our place. It surely can't be that late." By contrast, he explained how a man goes about it. . .

"Why, a man buys his wife's gift after 5 p.m. on December 24 and usually leaves 'it' up to the judgment of a trusted sales person who knows the sizes and likes of the lady of the house."

There is no scarcity of ardent Cornhusker football fans this year, but triumph rarely lacks a full house. Let the tide of victory ebb a little, however, and the loyal followers are separated in short order from fair-weather friends. The Sargent Leader presents its nomination for No. 1 Fan. Dr. W. W. Steen has seen all but three of the Huskers' home games over the past 15 years and, as the Leader describes them, some of those were "pretty painful." Half the battle in some instances was getting to and from the games through November ice storms and whatever else the weather had to offer. A bit of calculation estimates that the doctor has traveled 30,000 miles in pursuit of football fortunes. And, loyal as he has been during the lean years, he's as much in favor of winning as anyone else. "This fall it's worth every inch of it."

Ruth Leadabrand had the perfect explanation for Mr. Williams, in her Ashland Gazette items, in a typical example of feminine illogic . . .

"I did a little early Christmas shopping Monday evening. I go shopping around Christmas only to absorb the feeling of the holiday in the bustling crowds. I'd hate to do any shopping of importance then."

Fine Political Line

Resignation of Butler Shaffer, Lincoln attorney, from the Republican State Central Committee demonstrates the problem faced by the GOP. Shaffer resigned, he said, because party leaders are waging a clearly defined attack "on conservative Republicans."

Shaffer expressed his own political philosophy and added that it was in conflict with that of the party leaders of whom he spoke. He said he "cannot, in good conscience, support any organization dedicated to such a purpose—" that purpose being at odds with his own.

A political party, be it Democratic or Republican, is a highly complicated thing. It has within its membership a broad representation of thought. Many people are of such moderate leanings that they might well feel equally at home in either party.

It is this diversity that the GOP has been unable to handle. Rather than the Republican party's containing certain of its strongly conservative elements, these elements have sought to contain the party. The conservatives have not been content to have a voice and to live by any majority decision but seek to be the final authority in all matters.

Thus, the GOP does face the task of maintaining its historic position and philosophy or abandoning itself to the conservatives. It is the conservative element that has aborted traditional political practices, not the GOP that has denounced the conservatives. It is Mr. Shaffer and those who think as he does who are at fault, not the Republican party.

The Czech Problem

Red Czechoslovakia would like to sell more goods to the United States, but it is doubtful they will make it on the first try.

No matter what government happens to be in power or what ideology it represents, Czechoslovakia continues to be a good producer of wanted goods. But currently, being in the Red orbit, its foreign trade is poor. It would like to get a piece of U.S. trade, where payments are prompt and the money is good anywhere. We don't blame that country for trying.

But the United States has a most favored nation trade and tariff policy and Czechoslovakia is not on the most favored list. That means that if the Czechs would like to sell their famous glass chandeliers here the tariff would be 70 percent. France, a most favored nation, could sell its chandeliers here after paying only 30 percent duty.

But before Czechoslovakia can get on our most favored list its case will have to be examined by Congress. And this is going to hurt.

Czechoslovakia, in a nonmilitary way, has helped Cuba more than all the rest. Last year it built 11 factories in Cuba, an outlay of almost 80 million for which it received in down payment some $24 million in Cuban sugar. The sugar is a burden to Czechoslovakia because it produces its own, and the inetrnational market is rather saturated. There is no telling when Cuba can make any more payments.

This is not the sort of record that will impress Congress, which is most apt to take the view that stimulated U.S. trade at this time would be only a way to get Czechoslovakia off the hook.

Castro's Puzzle

Fidel Castro will have to be a greatly different man than he has been if we are to trust his intentions in releasing Cubans, seeking homes in the United States.

He has apparently a large number of takers of his offer and it is significant that this new wave is of a different economic strata than the earlier ones.

First came the wealthy and high placed. Next came the middle class, the business and professional people. This was understandable, because the Castro revolution was aimed at them. But now come many of the working class. These were the ones who were originally overjoyed with Castroism.

Castro's surprising release of unhappy Cubans may have been self-centered. Getting them out of the country is one way of relieving both unemployment and tendencies toward counter revolution. It is also a way of handing us a problem. It may be a new form of purge.

Then again, Cuba is living off Russia's largess to the tune of approximately $1 million a day. There may be some Russian suggestion behind this exporting of Cuban natives. It may be a covert Russian action for better coexistence.

And it may also spring from the disappearance of Che Guevara, Castro's one-time right hand man and an unending revolutionist. Guevara has simply vanished and possibly with him went a great part of the Cuban feud between Chinese communism and Russian communism.

But in any event Fidel Castro has not said. Time will probably give the answer.

Castro is evidently suffering the slings of all revolutionists. Their cause generally begins and ends in revolutions and they are notoriously bad administrators. Perhaps he is running out of gas.

Woman's Place

Omaha, Neb.

Ever since we elected a woman to the Omaha City Council, I have been wondering why women have been held back so long. In 1921 American women won suffrage. Most of us husbands have abolished slavery. But I still remind my better half that "man" was created in the image of God. It was "men" who inspired by God to write the Bible. Jesus Christ was the "Son" of God, not the "Daughter" of God. The Bible says "man" is to preach from the pulpit while woman is to remain silent in church.

Let me remind these working wives that man is supposed to work by the sweat of his brow, and women are to suffer from childbirth.

The Winner

Lincoln, Neb.

Quite obviously, the sales or income taxes now being imposed upon taxpayers of our sister states do not appear to produce winning football teams. When these states get busy and either abolish or repeal such onerous and unnecessary taxes, they may again start producing some winning football teams.

Until then, Nebraska as a non-sales-tax and non-income tax state will continue to top the football score boards.

Ten Commandments

Lincoln, Neb.

I would like to express my appreciation for the very inspiring series on the Ten Commandments. I cannot fathom the power of imagination that would lead one to criticize this series. I certainly cannot twist my thinking to justify even one of the criticisms offered.

When the Ten Commandments were the basis of our laws, the presidents did not have to appoint committees to study crime, and riots were not the order of the day. God's name was honored instead of used in slang, parents were respected, and Sunday was observed as a holy day instead of a holiday. The tragic collapse of the ride at the fairgrounds at 11:15 on Sunday, the time people should have been in church, is only one of the reminders that we cannot ignore the laws of God.

If the Ten Commandments were the basis of our laws today, alcohol would not be licensed and sold to kill 24,000 on our highways each year, and cigarettes would not be sold to kill 48,000 with lung cancer and 300,000 with emphysema. For the Commandments say, "Thou shalt not kill." Gambling and liquor would not rob thousands of children of food and clothing, for the Commandments say, "Thou shalt not steal." I believe that people who deal in these products will be held just as responsible for the deaths caused in the final judgment as the people who cause the deaths by their use. If a person were found deliberately polluting the water supply with typhoid bacillus, it would certainly be considered a crime. But liquor dealers can pollute the streams of life and cause thousands of deaths, and it is legal.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

Inasmuch as October 10 through October 16, 1965, is designated as National Newspaper Week, it is appropriate that we recognize this opportunity to give recognition to the contribution made by news media and the service they have rendered in behalf of farm programs and problems of producers of agricultural products. We have appreciated the cooperation of Editor Bill Dobler, Executive Editor W. Earl Dyer, Jr., and Farm Editor Glenn Kreuscher.

This is of even greater importance in a state like Nebraska the leading industry and as agriculture economy goes, so goes Nebraska economy.

We therefore would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation for The Star's interest and effort demonstrated in the past year. Adequate information is an important ingredient in our effort and The Star has helped us accomplish this goal.

The Mall

Lincoln, Neb.

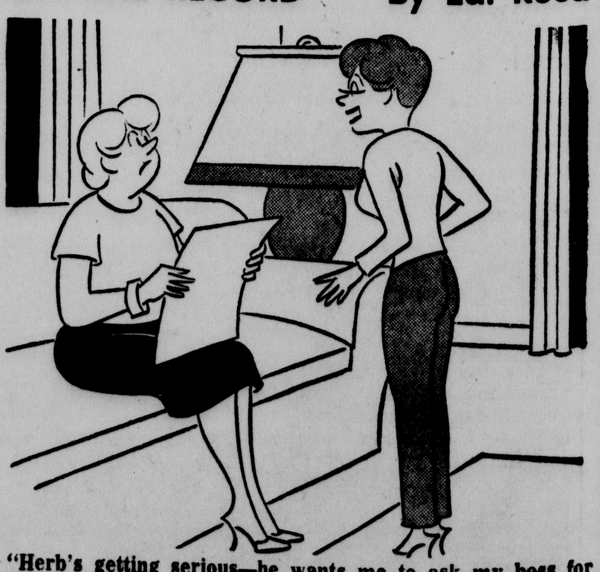

Thank goodness, the idea of a mall for downtown Lincoln has been put aside, as it should have been long ago. The City-County Planning Commission should be congratulated for its wise decision in this matter, and for not going off half-cocked on what would have been a very impractical and almost impossible plan for downtown business improvement.

A mall for downtown just would not be feasible, from any angle. The lay of the land prohibits it, mainly. A beautified spot is fine for some of the smaller side areas and shopping spots, such as Gateway. But it was planned and laid out that way. None of the insurmountable problems of traffic, access, parking or expense that would confront downtown were present in the planning of the smaller malls.

There is hope yet that common sense prevails. Lady Bird Johnson to the contrary, I am glad that the mall idea is out the window. We have more urgent local problems to deal with than that.

One Rescued From Plane In River Crash

Kansas City (AP) — One man was rescued Thursday after a small plane carrying four men crashed into the Missouri River shortly after taking off from the municipal airport in a thunderstorm.

The pilot of the rented plane was identified as J. F. Edell, 46, Overland Park, Kan.

Alvin Satterly Jr., 35, of Kansas City, swam from the plane after the crash and was rescued. He was reported in serious condition in a Kansas City hospital.

The other two men aboard were identified as John Patrick Cartwright, 29, of Kansas City, vice president of a Kansas City moving firm, and Richard E. Gardner, about 42, also of Kansas City, a representative of a roofing firm.

The men were on their way to Jefferson City, Mo.

Leonard Sloan, a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers employe, said he saw the plane hit the river.

"The plane was wobbling a little as it came over the levee," he said. "It looked like a wind current caught him.

He said the plane landed on one wing and then slipped into the water.

He said he saw two men swim from the scene, but one went under.

Stolen Jansen Truck Located

Odell (UPI) — A truck stolen from a Jansen, Neb., furniture store early Monday by thieves who made off with an estimated $14,000 in cash and merchandise, was found Wednesday at an abandoned farm near here.

Odell is about 20 miles from Jansen.

Gage County Sheriff Fred Steinkamp said the thieves apparently used the stolen truck — taken from Smitty's Furniture at Jansen — to haul away the stolen goods. They drove to the abandoned farm owned by Earl Spitznogle, and apparently switched the goods from the stolen truck to a larger vehicle.

The sheriff said tire marks at the farm indicated that a dual-wheeled truck was used.

One Rescued From Plane In River Crash

Kansas City (AP) — One man was rescued Thursday after a small plane carrying four men crashed into the Missouri River shortly after taking off from the municipal airport in a thunderstorm.

The pilot of the rented plane was identified as J. F. Edell, 46, Overland Park, Kan.

Alvin Satterly Jr., 35, of Kansas City, swam from the plane after the crash and was rescued. He was reported in serious condition in a Kansas City hospital.

The other two men aboard were identified as John Patrick Cartwright, 29, of Kansas City, vice president of a Kansas City moving firm, and Richard E. Gardner, about 42, also of Kansas City, a representative of a roofing firm.

The men were on their way to Jefferson City, Mo.

Leonard Sloan, a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers employe, said he saw the plane hit the river.

"The plane was wobbling a little as it came over the levee," he said. "It looked like a wind current caught him.

He said the plane landed on one wing and then slipped into the water.

He said he saw two men swim from the scene, but one went under.

Stolen Jansen Truck Located

Odell (UPI) — A truck stolen from a Jansen, Neb., furniture store early Monday by thieves who made off with an estimated $14,000 in cash and merchandise, was found Wednesday at an abandoned farm near here.

Odell is about 20 miles from Jansen.

Gage County Sheriff Fred Steinkamp said the thieves apparently used the stolen truck — taken from Smitty's Furniture at Jansen — to haul away the stolen goods. They drove to the abandoned farm owned by Earl Spitznogle, and apparently switched the goods from the stolen truck to a larger vehicle.

The sheriff said tire marks at the farm indicated that a dual-wheeled truck was used.

Study Set On 'Serious Lag' In Flood Control Work

The Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission Thursday ordered a study to determine the reasons for a "serious lag" in construction of flood control projects in the state.

The commission's executive secretary, Warren D. Fairchild, said construction is not keeping pace with planning and "we must find the bottlenecks in construction and eliminate them."

He said the federal government may cut back grants to Nebraska for planning purposes unless construction is expedited.

The commission was told that only 94 flood control structures of 248 structures planned since 1956 have been constructed to date. Construction totaling more than $14 million has been planned since 1956, but only $3,176,000 worth of construction has been realized thus far, the commission learned.

'Real Problem'

"This serious lag in construction is a real problem," Fairchild said. "We're in the top 10 states in planning work, but near the bottom in actual construction."

The watershed subcommittee of the commission was authorized to study construction problems of the state's soil and water conservation districts and report at the commission's next meeting.

On a related matter, the commission pledged to use its weight to push for speedy implementation of river basin development plans scheduled to be finished next July on the Blue and Elkhorn rivers.

Fairchild was authorized to assign commission personnel to work closely with local agencies in urging construction of projects included in the basin plans.

May Fall Trhough

"If we don't take the leadership on the state level, I'm afraid many of the projects will fall through," said Commission Chairman Earl Luff of Lincoln.

OK Nemaha Watershed's Application

An application for federal technical and financial assistance to develop a flood control plan for the Middle Big Nemaha Watershed in southeast Nebraska was approved Thursday by the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission.

The watershed covers 133,280 acres in Johnson, Pawnee and Gage counties.

The commission, which will decide the extent of the federal assistance later, recommended that a conservancy district be organized with the powers of taxation and eminent domain to develop the watershed to its fullest potential.

A field examination report by state commission personnel said "flooding problems are extensive and frequent" in the watershed.

Warren D. Fairchild, executive secretary of the commission, announced bids will be accepted soon on the largest aerial photography contract ever awarded by the commission, calling for photographs of a 600-square-mile section of the Little Nemaha River Basin.

Upper Nemaha Watershed OKd

Washington (AP) — Construction of the upper Big Nemaha watershed project in Nebraska was authorized by Congress Thursday.

The House Agriculture Committee approved the 114,980-acre project in Johnson, Gage, Lancaster and Otoe Counties. Total cost is $6,376,920.

Earlier clearance had been granted by the Senate Agriculture Committee No further congressional action is required.

The House committee also approved other watershed projects, on which the Senate unit has not yet acted. The projects, with their acreage and total cost, include:

Nebraska - Ziegler Creek, 17,600 acres in Otoe County, $503,680.

Kennedy Spies Yale Official

East Orange, N.J. (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, campaigning at Upsala College Thursday for Gov. Richard J. Hughes, drew laughter and applause when he pointed to a student dressed as a Viking, the college's symbol, and said:

"I'm glad to see that Yale University sent its representative."

Yale caused a stir last Monday by announcing that an old map had been authenticated which showed that the Norse Vikings sailed to America before Christopher Columbus.

Study Set On 'Serious Lag' In Flood Control Work

The Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission Thursday ordered a study to determine the reasons for a "serious lag" in construction of flood control projects in the state.

The commission's executive secretary, Warren D. Fairchild, said construction is not keeping pace with planning and "we must find the bottlenecks in construction and eliminate them."

He said the federal government may cut back grants to Nebraska for planning purposes unless construction is expedited.

The commission was told that only 94 flood control structures of 248 structures planned since 1956 have been constructed to date. Construction totaling more than $14 million has been planned since 1956, but only $3,176,000 worth of construction has been realized thus far, the commission learned.

'Real Problem'

"This serious lag in construction is a real problem," Fairchild said. "We're in the top 10 states in planning work, but near the bottom in actual construction."

The watershed subcommittee of the commission was authorized to study construction problems of the state's soil and water conservation districts and report at the commission's next meeting.

On a related matter, the commission pledged to use its weight to push for speedy implementation of river basin development plans scheduled to be finished next July on the Blue and Elkhorn rivers.

Fairchild was authorized to assign commission personnel to work closely with local agencies in urging construction of projects included in the basin plans.

May Fall Trhough

"If we don't take the leadership on the state level, I'm afraid many of the projects will fall through," said Commission Chairman Earl Luff of Lincoln.

OK Nemaha Watershed's Application

An application for federal technical and financial assistance to develop a flood control plan for the Middle Big Nemaha Watershed in southeast Nebraska was approved Thursday by the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission.

The watershed covers 133,280 acres in Johnson, Pawnee and Gage counties.

The commission, which will decide the extent of the federal assistance later, recommended that a conservancy district be organized with the powers of taxation and eminent domain to develop the watershed to its fullest potential.

A field examination report by state commission personnel said "flooding problems are extensive and frequent" in the watershed.

Warren D. Fairchild, executive secretary of the commission, announced bids will be accepted soon on the largest aerial photography contract ever awarded by the commission, calling for photographs of a 600-square-mile section of the Little Nemaha River Basin.

Upper Nemaha Watershed OKd

Washington (AP) — Construction of the upper Big Nemaha watershed project in Nebraska was authorized by Congress Thursday.

The House Agriculture Committee approved the 114,980-acre project in Johnson, Gage, Lancaster and Otoe Counties. Total cost is $6,376,920.

Earlier clearance had been granted by the Senate Agriculture Committee. No further congressional action is required.

The House committee also approved other watershed projects, on which the Senate unit has not yet acted. The projects, with their acreage and total cost, include:

Nebraska - Ziegler Creek, 17,600 acres in Otoe County, $503,680.

Kennedy Spies Yale Official

East Orange, N.J. (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, campaigning at Upsala College Thursday for Gov. Richard J. Hughes, drew laughter and applause when he pointed to a student dressed as a Viking, the college's symbol, and said:

"I'm glad to see that Yale University sent its representative."

Yale caused a stir last Monday by announcing that an old map had been authenticated which showed that the Norse Vikings sailed to America before Christopher Columbus.

Demonstration End Promised

. . . FEDERAL COURT DECISION HONORED

Crawfordville, Ga. (AP) — A federal court decision brought a promise from civil rights leaders Thursday that demonstrations would be halted in east Georgia communities.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said in Atlanta that in light of the court ruling, "There will naturally be a halt to demonstrations."

King said he would consult with civil rights leaders in Crawfordville.

The three-judge federal court in a ruling in Augusta, Ga., placed a Georgia county school system under state receivership end segregation. Crawfordville is the county seat.

Demonstrations have taken place in Crawfordville since early fall when a white high school was closed.

Whites Transfer

The white pupils transferred to schools in neighboring counties rather than integrate schols in Taliaferro County. That was the basis for the court action by civil rights leaders.

The judges ordered that schools in Taliaferro County be placed in receivership of State School Supt. Claude Purcell who was given until Oct. 25 to bring about an integrated system.

Prior to the decision there were brief demonstrations at Crawfordville again and in neighboring Lincoln County.

The court said Purcell could either reopen the white school in Taliaferro County or he could send the Negro students to integrated schools in neighboring counties.

Enjoined From Spending

Judge T. Griffin Bell of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said that unless the issue is resolved satisfactorily, the state and Taliaferro County would be enjoined from spending state money for school buses and other school needs.

Taliaferro receives about $180,000 in operational funds and about $35,000 in transportation money from the state during this school year.

The court also directed attorneys to prepare orders to enjoin Negroes in Taliaferro County from disturbing the operation of school buses and with disturbing classes. The order would apply to pupils in adjoining counties which have accepted white students from Taliaferro.

Blaze At Bennet Elevator Started When Dust Ignited

A $40,000 fire in the top section of a grain elevator at Bennet started when dust ignited, Deputy State Fire Marshal L. S. Crain said Thursday.

He said the motor and belt which carried grain to the top of the 60-foot structure got so hot due to continued use that dust caught fire, spewing flames on stored grain.

More than 50 firemen from Bennet, Palmyra and Douglas volunteer fire departments battled the blaze for more than two nours before bringing it under control Wednesday night.

Crain said the quick action of firemen and a sprinkler system in the structure prevented complete destruction of Bennet's only elevator at a time when grain storage space is at a premium.

SHE GOT FAST BREAK

Kay Olson works on an abstract painting in her Broadway theater dressing room after her feature-role performance as the "The Girl" in Anthony Newley's "The Roar of the Greasepaint—the Smell of the Crowd." Kay shattered the theater tradition of waiting for the big break when she appeared in the role 13 days after coming to New York from Chicago. She answered an audition ad to replace Joyce Jillson and got the part.

Men Who Burned Building Equipment Object Of Hunt

Authorities are looking for at least two men who set fire to construction equipment south of Lincoln early Thursday morning.

Lincoln Fire Inspector Graham L. Spahn said first reports from a claims adjuster indicate damage may reach more than $5,000.

"The approach to setting the fire indicates professionals, not vandals, are responsible," he said.

Moth Crystals

Spahn said whoever set the fires and damaged the construction equipment put moth crystals in the fuel used to start the blaze. Moth balls or crystals makes a fire burn hotter, he said.

"Whoever did this definitely had it in for the company," he said.

He said they also brought along their own tools, lending weight to theory that professionals were involved.

Most extensively damaged were two pieces of heavy equipment whose radiators had been pierced.

2 Burn, 5 Damaged

Two trucks were burned and five other pieces of equipment damaged. The equipment is owned by Diamond Engineering Co. of Grand Island.

Evidence at the scene indicates at least two men were involved, Spahn said.

Harvest Hindered

Truro, England (AP)—The harvest has been so late in Cornwall that parishioners changed the hymn sung at the annual harvest festival to "some is safely gathered in" instead of the traditional "all is safely gathered in."

Supreme Court Will Determine If Labor Talks Can Be Mandatory

The State Supreme Court Thursday announced oral arguments will be held Nov. 1 on a key case which will determine whether the Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations has authority to require negotiations in labor-management disputes.

The case is the first appeal from a Court of Industrial Relations ruling ever considered by the Supreme Court.

The City of Hastings in appealing a 1963 order of the Industrial Court which required the city to negotiate with Union 507 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to resolve a dispute over wages and hours.

The city contends that the Industrial Court ruling requires a governmental employer to engage in collective bargaining or negotiation with a labor union and the court, created by the 1947 Legislature, has no authority to make such an order.

On Nov. 1, the Supreme Court also will hear oral arguments in the case involving Taylor man Everett Satterfield's refusal to cooperate with taxing officials in an investigation of his intangible property holdings.

Satterfield appeared at a taxing hearing in January of last year in Taylor but refused to testify or permit the examination of his financial records.

A state law provides that a taxpayer failing to cooperate in a tax investigation may be found guilty of a misdemeanor, but Satterfield claimed the law is unconsitutional and won a favorable lower court decision.

Demonstration End Promised

. . . FEDERAL COURT DECISION HONORED

Crawfordville, Ga. (AP) — A federal court decision brought a promise from civil rights leaders Thursday that demonstrations would be halted in east Georgia communities.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said in Atlanta that in light of the court ruling, "There will naturally be a halt to demonstrations."

King said he would consult with civil rights leaders in Crawfordville.

The three-judge federal court in a ruling in Augusta, Ga., placed a Georgia county school system under state receivership end segregation. Crawfordville is the county seat.

Demonstrations have taken place in Crawfordville since early fall when a white high school was closed.

Whites Transfer

The white pupils transferred to schools in neighboring counties rather than integrate schols in Taliaferro County. That was the basis for the court action by civil rights leaders.

The judges ordered that schools in Taliaferro County be placed in receivership of State School Supt. Claude Purcell who was given until Oct. 25 to bring about an integrated system.

Prior to the decision there were brief demonstrations at Crawfordville again and in neighboring Lincoln County.

The court said Purcell could either reopen the white school in Taliaferro County or he could send the Negro students to integrated schools in neighboring counties.

Enjoined From Spending

Judge T. Griffin Bell of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said that unless the issue is resolved satisfactorily, the state and Taliaferro County would be enjoined from spending state money for school buses and other school needs.

Taliaferro receives about $180,000 in operational funds and about $35,000 in transportation money from the state during this school year.

The court also directed attorneys to prepare orders to enjoin Negroes in Taliaferro County from disturbing the operation of school buses and with disturbing classes. The order would apply to pupils in adjoining counties which have accepted white students from Taliaferro.

Blaze At Bennet Elevator Started When Dust Ignited

A $40,000 fire in the top section of a grain elevator at Bennet started when dust ignited, Deputy State Fire Marshal L. S. Crain said Thursday.

He said the motor and belt which carried grain to the top of the 60-foot structure got so hot due to continued use that dust caught fire, spewing flames on stored grain.

More than 50 firemen from Bennet, Palmyra and Douglas volunteer fire departments battled the blaze for more than two hours before bringing it under control Wednesday night.

Crain said the quick action of firemen and a sprinkler system in the structure prevented complete destruction of Bennet's only elevator at a time when grain storage space is at a premium.

SHE GOT FAST BREAK

Men Who Burned Building Equipment Object Of Hunt

Authorities are looking for at least two men who set fire to construction equipment south of Lincoln early Thursday morning.

Lincoln Fire Inspector Graham L. Spahn said first reports from a claims adjuster indicate damage may reach more than $5,000.

"The approach to setting the fire indicates professionals, not vandals, are responsible," he said.

Moth Crystals

Spahn said whoever set the fires and damaged the construction equipment put moth crystals in the fuel used to start the blaze. Moth balls or crystals makes a fire burn hotter, he said.

"Whoever did this definitely had it in for the company," he said.

He said they also brought along their own tools, lending weight to theory that professionals were involved.

Most extensively damaged were two pieces of heavy equipment whose radiators had been pierced.

2 Burn, 5 Damaged

Two trucks were burned and five other pieces of equipment damaged. The equipment is owned by Diamond Engineering Co. of Grand Island.

Evidence at the scene indicates at least two men were involved, Spahn said.

Harvest Hindered

Truro, England (AP)—The harvest has been so late in Cornwall that parishioners changed the hymn sung at the annual harvest festival to "some is safely gathered in" instead of the traditional "all is safely gathered in."

Supreme Court Will Determine If Labor Talks Can Be Mandatory

The State Supreme Court Thursday announced oral arguments will be held Nov. 1 on a key case which will determine whether the Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations has authority to require negotiations in labor-management disputes.

The case is the first appeal from a Court of Industrial Relations ruling ever considered by the Supreme Court.

The City of Hastings in appealing a 1963 order of the Industrial Court which required the city to negotiate with Union 507 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to resolve a dispute over wages and hours.

The city contends that the Industrial Court ruling requires a governmental employer to engage in collective bargaining or negotiation with a labor union and the court, created by the 1947 Legislature, has no authority to make such an order.

On Nov. 1, the Supreme Court also will hear oral arguments in the case involving Taylor man Everett Satterfield's refusal to cooperate with taxing officials in an investigation of his intangible property holdings.

Satterfield appeared at a taxing hearing in January of last year in Taylor but refused to testify or permit the examination of his financial records.

A state law provides that a taxpayer failing to cooperate in a tax investigation may be found guilty of a misdemeanor, but Satterfield claimed the law is unconsitutional and won a favorable lower court decision.

English Teachers Will Meet

The annual conference of teachers of English will draw more than 200 Nebraska educators to the Nebraska Center Friday through Sunday.

Attending teachers will be filled in on developments related to the Nebraska English Curriculum Development Center.

For the past four years, educators at the University of Nebraska have been developing a standard curriculum for the study of English from kindergarten through the 12th grade. It is now being used as a model in a number of states.

Recently the British Government sent its senior inspector of schools, George Allen, to the University to examine the model curriculum.

Dr. Frank Rice, associate professor of English and co-director of the curriculum center, said also that a new kindergarten through sixth grade language arts curriculum of the New York public schools reflects much of the thought now found in the Nebraska curriculum.

Snyder Named Head

Hastings — New president of the Adams County Historical Society is Dan Snyder of Holstein. Other officers named at the group's annual meeting here are Charles Osborne of Hastings, vice president; Mrs. Jack Minshall, secretary; and A. J. Gaudreault, treasurer.

POSTCARD by Del Plaine

The sun shines bright on our home in suburban Shady Acres. New subdivisions are opening all over our hills. Visa Del Mar Terrace. Meaning you have a vista of the beautiful blue sea. If you paid $10,000 more for the lot.

Otherwise you have to walk up the street a block and stand on tiptoe.

"Terrace" means you are building on the side of a hill. And the contractor can retire on what he will charge you.

It is the suburban life, and we couldn't live without it.

☆ ☆ ☆

The paperback racks are full of novels on life in the suburbs. Some life! Bored suburban chicks pulsing with hi-de-ho.

Neurotic Nellies making adjustments with The Boy Next Door.

Adult parties playing spin the bottle. Or postoffice. We do play postoffice around here. We go down to the village and buy a roll of 5-cent stamps. Look at the mug shots on the wall: "Dangerous. May be armed."

Even though it's placid—(and I thought it was going to be "Peyton Place"!)—life must be insured.

I have a large bet down with New York Life. Every time I think about it, I have to laugh. I mean they've got to lose. (When I think about it twice, I quit laughing. When they lose, I don't come out exactly winners.)

"It will give you that comforting sense of security," said the insurance man in a comforting voice. "Sign here." I signed.

☆ ☆ ☆

One of the comforting things about it is they don't send me a bill. They just take it right off the top of the checking account. First of every month.

"We call it Check-o-matic," said the insurance man. "Isn't that a nice word? You are automatically paid up every month. No fuss. No bills, No checks. No worry."

"And no money, Insurance Man," I said.

"But the comforting sense of security," he said. "Sign this, too, please."

I signed.

☆ ☆ ☆

I should talk to somebody about this. Maybe Nick the Greek, the famous gambler.

Gamblers know all about odds.

I think this is what they call a proposition bet — this bet I have with New York Life. They bet I'm going to live forever. I bet I don't.

New York Life makes bets like this all the time. It is their business. Yet, they are making so much money, they are paying me extra dividends this year.

How can they do that: Betting everybody they will live forever.

That doesn't give me a comforting sense of security. It makes me nervous.

☆ ☆ ☆

"It is perfectly simple," said the insurance man. "We invest your money, and we share it with you. The company is all heart."

"What do you invest it in, Insurance Man? Marijuana? Smuggled diamonds?"

"It is all invested in sound securities," he said. "Our investment people are experts in the field. Each year we have been able to pay more dividends than we anticipated."

"How about your betters—the boys who put it on the 'come' line?" I said. "Don't tell me you are betting a sure thing.'

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, he got out pencils and paper. He showed me charts and figures. And he talked—I didn't understand a word of it. But he tried to comfort me.

He showed me how my heirs would be comforted. Picking up the payoff on my bet.

"The beauty part about it," he said, "is now that you have one policy, we have confidence in you. The company, in its generosity, will now allow you to double the amount. Sign here."

I signed. (I must talk to Nick the Greek about this. Does he bet with these people?)

Colleges To Spend $100 Million Here

By RICHARD BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

Institutions of higher education in Lincoln in the next six years will account for an economic boom equivalent to the acquisition of one plant per year employing 1,000 persons, educators and businessmen attending the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Education-Business Day Thursday.

Composite figures released by representatives of three colleges and universities in Lincoln indicate that $100 million will be spent in the next six years for expansion and improvements at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Union College and the University of Nebraska.

Among these expenditures will be some $48 million earmarked for expansion at the University of Nebraska. That amount will be made available to NU under action taken by the Legislature.

In the immediate future, NU Chancellor Clifford Hardin said, are two new high-rise classrooms for the downtown campus.

Science Complex

One of the structures will be a 12-to 14-story science complex near present engineering buildings. The other building similar in size will be built near Burnett and Bessey Halls.

Hardin estimated that NU enrollment figures would soar to almost 25,000 students by 1970. He said he expected an enrollment of 20,000 by 1968.

Much of whether the University of Nebraska can accommodate the increase depends on future classroom space, offices and housing, he noted.

Now, 5,500 students are housed on campus while 9,100 commute, he said.

Breakdown Danger Cited

Guarding against the danger that the ever-increasing size of the University will result in a breakdown in relations between students and faculty, Hardin said a program is now under way whereby senior professors are required to teach undergraduate courses.

R. W. Fowler, Union College president, said a vigorous building program is being planned which will eventually see an addition to the science building, a seven-story men's dormitory, an addition to the library, a new administration building, a new library and a ladies dormitory.

These improvements, he said, will increase Union Colleges capability to the point where it will be able to handle 1,650 students. Present enrollment is 1,077.

James Ackerman, chairman of the board of governors of Nebraska Wesleyan University, said NWU enrollment is already exceeding an earlier prediction of the 1970 figure.

Paul Klein, chairman of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Education Committee, noted that "in business terms" the increase in spending and influx of students will account for more than half the economic loss of Lincoln Air Force Base.

The impact of federal involvement and the investment of federal funds in higher education were covered during the morning session by Dr. Merk Hobson, vice chancellor for research and Dean of the Graduate College of the University of Nebraska.

Research Takes Most

Most of the federal funds, he said, are channeled into the research end of the university. He added that 20% of NU's present operating budget comes from the federal government.

In return for the funds, the federal government depends on universities for ideas and talented manpower, he said, adding that the government also expects to establish national standards of academic excellent from its investment.

Federal involvement in education and research has been on the increase since World War II, he said.

Glenn Davenport, speaking for Union College, pointed to six advantages of the private school. They are freedom to experiment, ability to serve a special interest, a close faculty-student relationship, a good record in preparing students for graduate and professional training, a concern for the progress of the individual and the espousal of individual initiative.

New Math

Covering the so-called "new math," professor Joe F. Wampler of Nebraska Wesleyan, said more profound math "has been developed in the 20th Century than in all previous history."

Among the innovations, he pointed out, was the elimination of unimportant topics and the "integration of important material."

Both students hold better than 8.0 scholastic averages, 9.0 being perfect.

Conferees Agree On New College Aid

Washington (AP)—A broad new program to strengthen higher education — including aid for colleges, students and teachers—was agreed upon Thursday by House and Senateconferees.

In settling differences over bills passed earlier by the House and the Senate, the conferees approved a sweeping omnibus measure carrying an annual cost of $841 million. That is more than twice what President Johnson requested.

The compromise bill, designed to help the nation's colleges meet an expanding enrollment that has doubled in ten years, would:

—Launch a new program of scholarship grants for needy students and provide federally guaranteed, low-interes. loans for students from middle income families.

Upgrade Libraries

—Double the money available for college construction grants and start a new program designed to upgrade college libraries and library services generally.

—Establish a National Teacher Corps to work with local school districts in improving teaching services in low-income areas.

—Strengthen small, struggling colleges through direct financial aid and through teaching fellowship programs aimed at attracting outstanding scholars to such institutions.

House Republican conferees objected strenuously to the teacher corps provisions and said they would seek a House vote to have the item removed from the bill. It was in the original Senate bill but was not voted on by the House.

The earlier bills received overwhelming support in each body.

Undergraduate Aid

A major change in the field of federal education legislation is provided by the new aid program for needy students. The assistance, called educational opportunity grants, would amount to the first federal undergraduate scholarships.

The bill would authorize $70 million for the first year, to be distributed among the states on the basis of their total college enrollment and number of high school graduates.

Student recipients would be selected by the colleges and would have to show they need the money in order to get it.

House Passes Appropriation Bill, Delays Rent Subsidies

Washington (AP)—The House passed a $4.2-billion catch-all appropriation bill Thursday after voting to delay operation of the recently enacted program of rent subsidies for low-income families.

The bill, which goes to the Senate, includes $1.5 billion for the antipoverty program and a similar amount for housing programs.

All the money is for use during the remaining months of the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The amendment that put the brakes on the rent subsidy program was offered by Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., and was heavily supported by Republicans and some Democrats who had opposed the program when Congress wrote it into a housing bill enacted earlier this year.

The roll-call vote that knocked out $180,000 for initial payments under the program and authority to enter into contracts for an additional $6 million to be paid later was 185 to 162.

It did not affect another provision appropriating $170,000 for administrative expenses of the program.

The rent plan would provide for payment of subsidies to owners and developers of private housing to make housing available for low-income families. The payments could run for as long as 40 years and would be based on the ability of the tenant to pay out of his own income.

IKE AND HAT

Queen Is Limited By Eye Ailment

London (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has been suffering from an eye ailment for several days but will be able to carry out a scheduled official engagement Friday, court circles said Thursday night.

The queen, who is at Balmoral Castle, her home in the Scottish Highlands, suffered a slight abrasion of the cornea of the right eye. When she complained of irritation in the eye after being out deer-stalking in the hills around Balmoral, a doctor was called.

It is understood the irritation has yielded to treatment.

HUAC KLAN PROBE SET

Washington (AP)—After months of investigation, the congressional hearings into the Ku Klux Klan will begin Tuesday, the House Un-American Activities Committee announced Thursday.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., declined to say who will be the first witness. But the committee is expected to open the hearings by putting the spotlight on the biggest and best known—the United Klans of America headed by Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton.

Shelton's group, some of whose members have been arrested in civil rights violence, is said to have grown to about 50,000 members.

Willis, whose Southern-dominated committee doesn't want to give its critics a chance to cry "whitewash," said in his statement that the hearings would be lengthy.

The committee is known to have more than 200 witnesses ready—including Klan officials, former Klansmen and some who are reported to have taken part in bombings and night rides.

With such a witness list, the committee staff is said to be planning for as many as 13 weeks of hearings.

Wedding rings are placed on the third finger of the left hand because of an old Egyptian belief that a nerve ran from that finger to the heart.

Callan To Press For Early Authorization Of Post Office

Washington (AP)—Plans to press early next year for congressional authorization of a $3,694,000 post office building and a $14,890,000 court house and federal office building at Lincoln were announced Thursday by Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb.

He said that if the post office is not authorized, the Post Office Department has agreed to go ahead with plans to have a structure built by private capital and leased to the government.

"I have talked with Post Office Department officials and plans have been approved for either construction, if authorized or private building of the post office project with the government then leasing it," Callan told a reporter.

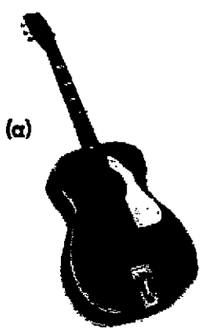

"There will be no delay on the post office project. It could not be started before January. I will go before the House Public Works Committee when Congress reconvenes in January and urge the construction authorization.

"If the House committee approves it, the General Services Administration can then construct it. If we don't get that authority, the post office can go ahead with the construction-lease project. Lincoln needs a new post office."

He said he also would urge the House Public Works Committee in January to approve authorization of the court house and federal building.

Conferees Agree On New College Aid

Washington (AP)—A broad new program to strengthen higher education — including aid for colleges, students and teachers—was agreed upon Thursday by House and Senateconferees.

In settling differences over bills passed earlier by the House and the Senate, the conferees approved a sweeping omnibus measure carrying an annual cost of $841 million. That is more than twice what President Johnson requested.

The compromise bill, designed to help the nation's colleges meet an expanding enrollment that has doubled in ten years, would:

—Launch a new program of scholarship grants for needy students and provide federally guaranteed, low-interest loans for students from middle income families.

Upgrade Libraries

—Double the money available for college construction grants and start a new program designed to upgrade college libraries and library services generally.

—Establish a National Teacher Corps to work with local school districts in improving teaching services in low-income areas.

—Strengthen small, struggling colleges through direct financial aid and through teaching fellowship programs aimed at attracting outstanding scholars to such institutions.

House Republican conferees objected strenuously to the teacher corps provisions and said they would seek a House vote to have the item removed from the bill. It was in the original Senate bill but was not voted on by the House.

The earlier bills received overwhelming support in each body.

Undergraduate Aid

A major change in the field of federal education legislation is provided by the new aid program for needy students. The assistance, called educational opportunity grants, would amount to the first federal undergraduate scholarships.

The bill would authorize $70 million for the first year, to be distributed among the states on the basis of their total college enrollment and number of high school graduates.

Student recipients would be selected by the colleges and would have to show they need the money in order to get it.

House Passes Appropriation Bill, Delays Rent Subsidies

Washington (AP)—The House passed a $4.2-billion catch-all appropriation bill Thursday after voting to delay operation of the recently enacted program of rent subsidies for low-income families.

The bill, which goes to the Senate, includes $1.5 billion for the antipoverty program and a similar amount for housing programs.

All the money is for use during the remaining months of the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The amendment that put the brakes on the rent subsidy program was offered by Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., and was heavily supported by Republicans and some Democrats who had opposed the program when Congress wrote it into a housing bill enacted earlier this year.

The roll-call vote that knocked out $180,000 for initial payments under the program and authority to enter into contracts for an additional $6 million to be paid later was 185 to 162.

It did not affect another provision appropriating $170,000 for administrative expenses of the program.

The rent plan would provide for payment of subsidies to owners and developers of private housing to make housing available for low-income families. The payments could run for as long as 40 years and would be based on the ability of the tenant to pay out of his own income.

Queen Is Limited By Eye Ailment

London (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has been suffering from an eye ailment for several days but will be able to carry out a scheduled official engagement Friday, court circles said Thursday night.

The queen, who is at Balmoral Castle, her home in the Scottish Highlands, suffered a slight abrasion of the cornea of the right eye. When she complained of irritation in the eye after being out deer-stalking in the hills around Balmoral, a doctor was called.

It is understood the irritation has yielded to treatment.

HUAC KLAN PROBE SET

Washington (AP)—After months of investigation, the congressional hearings into the Ku Klux Klan will begin Tuesday, the House Un-American Activities Committee announced Thursday.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., declined to say who will be the first witness. But the committee is expected to open the hearings by putting the spotlight on the biggest and best known—the United Klans of America headed by Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton.

Shelton's group, some of whose members have been arrested in civil rights violence, is said to have grown to about 50,000 members.

Willis, whose Southern-dominated committee doesn't want to give its critics a chance to cry "whitewash," said in his statement that the hearings would be lengthy.

The committee is known to have more than 200 witnesses ready—including Klan officials, former Klansmen and some who are reported to have taken part in bombings and night rides.

With such a witness list, the committee staff is said to be planning for as many as 13 weeks of hearings.

Callan To Press For Early Authorization Of Post Office

Washington (AP)—Plans to press early next year for congressional authorization of a $3,694,000 post office building and a $14,890,000 court house and federal office building at Lincoln were announced Thursday by Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb.

He said that if the post office is not authorized, the Post Office Department has agreed to go ahead with plans to have a structure built by private capital and leased to the government.

"I have talked with Post Office Department officials and plans have been approved for either construction, if authorized or private building of the post office project with the government then leasing it," Callan told a reporter.

"There will be no delay on the post office project. It could not be started before January. I will go before the House Public Works Committee when Congress reconvenes in January and urge the construction authorization.

"If the House committee approves it, the General Services Administration can then construct it. If we don't get that authority, the post office can go ahead with the construction-lease project. Lincoln needs a new post office."

He said he also would urge the House Public Works Committee in January to approve authorization of the court house and federal building.

Passage Of Medicare Won't Swamp Hospitals, Meet Told

The director of the American Hospital Association told some 400 Nebraska hospital administrators and staff personnel Thursday that he doesn't believe hospitals will be swamped with patients because of the passage of medicare.

Dr. Erwin L. Crosby told the Nebraska Hospital Association's 29th annual convention that the hospital and its supporting community would be in better financial condition because it would receive payment for all aged patients, which, he said, "is not the case today."

New officers elected Thursday are Leo P.Bolin of Sidney, president; Spencer E. Brader of Omaha, president elect; Eugene G. Edwards of Lincoln, vice president; William T. Schweickert of Falls City, treasurer; Robert Brungard of Lincoln, assistant treasurer, and Sister Antonette of Omaha, secretary.

Trustees

Elected to three-year terms on the board of trustees were Daryl A Wade of Norfolk, Jem W Kenney of Hastings, James A Canedy of Omaha and Eva Tyler of Valentine.

Crosby warned that never before has the "partnership between government and hospitals been faced with such a critical reality as now."

The American Hospital Association (AHA), Crosby said, believes that federal financing is necessary, but that care for the aged should face a test of reasonable need and be administered through voluntary pre-payment systems

Only Reason

Bolin told members at a banquet that, "In an age when yesterday's unknowns are today's accomplished facts, don't forget our only reason for existence—the patients' care."

Charles W. Ferguson, a senior editor of The Reader's Digest, also addressed the banquet, telling members, "There are certain words that hurt and others that heal. Learn and continue to use (language) with love."

Dr. Crosby also awarded certificates for 25-year membership in the association to the Doctors Hospital in Omaha. St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island and the Lutheran Hospital at Columbus.

Plan Drawn For Year-Round Head Start Program

Project Head Start is slated to be a year-round program in Lincoln starting near the first of the year if a proposal to be written by the Lincoln Public Schools is accepted by the Board of Education and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Members of the advisory committee to last summer's Head Start Thursday night formally accepted the school system's offer to write a proposal taking over the summer program and extending it into a twelve-month operation.

The district will work closely with the advisory committee, which will probably be enlarged to include area parent representatives, in preparing the project application.

Formation Process

The school proposal will not have to have approval from Lincoln's Community Action Agency since it is still in the formation process and will not expect to be operating with federal approval or be funded by that time, according to Ron Jensen, Technical Assistance Agency director.

However, he added, the schools will have to show evidence of coordinating plans with the infant agency.

Vice Supt. Arzell Ball proposed that the school project be written for 200 four-year-olds in a $100,000 program, and then presented to the committee for suggestions and trimming if advisable.

Five Centers

Ball and Dr. Rudy Fredstrom, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum, indicated that the school would probably be thinking in terms of five centers operating morning and afternoon sessions. At least one meal, school bus transportation and certified teachers would be provided, they said.

Art May of the Lincoln Community Council pointed out that future Head Start projects would have to adhere to tighter enrollment stipulations, with 90% of the children required to be from families with less than $3,000 annual income

Committee members generally agreed that more parental involvement and visitations would be possible if classes were held four days per week, allowing one day for the teacher to counsel with parents.

Dr. Ball said that the project would "blend in quite well" with the schools' Neighborhood Youth Corps, in which students are employed and could be used as teacher aides in Head Start, and other programs for the educationally deprived.

Hardin Links Learning, Economy

Omaha (AP)—Education and the economy go hand in hand, Chancellor Clifford Hardin of the University of Nebraska said Thursday night.

Addressing Nebraska educators on the eve of the inauguration of Leland E. Traywick as the eighth president of the University of Omaha, Dr. Hardin declared:

"If 15 years ago the plains states had demanded an upgrading of their educational institutions, their economy and cultural patters would have been expanded considerably."

All Nebraskans should be allowed to develop their talents to the fullest extent, he said. This would:

—Increase full productivity.

—Supply quality services to other states as well as to Nebraska.

—Be a great satisfaction to Nebraskans as a whole.

He recommended the institutions of higher learning in Nebraska close ranks and work together.

There still may be a few limited areas where some competition exists, and this is probably good, but these are in sharp contrast to the many places "where we can benefit from close cooperation."

Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen, acting for Gov. Frank Morrison who is on a trade mission in Europe, said "to often" it is plain politican and educators don't understand each other.

"I refuse to accept this," he said. One of the major benefactors of education is the society at large, he said.

More than 300 persons including representatives of each state college and University in Nebraska attended the banquet sponsored by the University of Omaha's Board of Regents.

President Traywick will be installed in ceremonies in the Omaha University stadium Friday. Representatives of more than 300 colleges and universities in the United States and Great Britian are expected to attend.

Mrs. Osborne, a member of the committee since last November, declined to elaborate on the telegram or her plans for the future.

On Wednesday Lincoln attorney Butler D. Shaffer resigned from the committee.

Conferees Agree On New College Aid

Washington (AP)—A broad new program to strengthen higher education — including aid for colleges, students and teachers—was agreed upon Thursday by House and Senateconferees.

In settling differences over bills passed earlier by the House and the Senate, the conferees approved a sweeping omnibus measure carrying an annual cost of $841 million. That is more than twice what President Johnson requested.

The compromise bill, designed to help the nation's colleges meet an expanding enrollment that has doubled in ten years, would:

—Launch a new program of scholarship grants for needy students and provide federally guaranteed, low-interes. loans for students from middle income families.

Upgrade Libraries

—Double the money available for college construction grants and start a new program designed to upgrade college libraries and library services generally.

—Establish a National Teacher Corps to work with local school districts in improving teaching services in low-income areas.

—Strengthen small, struggling colleges through direct financial aid and through teaching fellowship programs aimed at attracting outstanding scholars to such institutions.

House Republican conferees objected strenuously to the teacher corps provisions and said they would seek a House vote to have the item removed from the bill. It was in the original Senate bill but was not voted on by the House.

The earlier bills received overwhelming support in each body.

Undergraduate Aid

A major change in the field of federal education legislation is provided by the new aid program for needy students. The assistance, called educational opportunity grants, would amount to the first federal undergraduate scholarships.

The bill would authorize $70 million for the first year, to be distributed among the states on the basis of their total college enrollment and number of high school graduates.

Student recipients would be selected by the colleges and would have to show they need the money in order to get it.

House Passes Appropriation Bill, Delays Rent Subsidies

Washington (AP)—The House passed a $4.2-billion catch-all appropriation bill Thursday after voting to delay operation of the recently enacted program of rent subsidies for low-income families.

The bill, which goes to the Senate, includes $1.5 billion for the antipoverty program and a similar amount for housing programs.

All the money is for use during the remaining months of the fiscal year ending next June 30.

The amendment that put the brakes on the rent subsidy program was offered by Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., and was heavily supported by Republicans and some Democrats who had opposed the program when Congress wrote it into a housing bill enacted earlier this year.

The roll-call vote that knocked out $180,000 for initial payments under the program and authority to enter into contracts for an additional $6 million to be paid later was 185 to 162.

It did not affect another provision appropriating $170,000 for administrative expenses of the program.

The rent plan would provide for payment of subsidies to owners and developers of private housing to make housing available for low-income families. The payments could run for as long as 40 years and would be based on the ability of the tenant to pay out of his own income.

Queen Is Limited By Eye Ailment

London (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has been suffering from an eye ailment for several days but will be able to carry out a scheduled official engagement Friday, court circles said Thursday night.

The queen, who is at Balmoral Castle, her home in the Scottish Highlands, suffered a slight abrasion of the cornea of the right eye. When she complained of irritation in the eye after being out deer-stalking in the hills around Balmoral, a doctor was called.

It is understood the irritation has yielded to treatment.

HUAC KLAN PROBE SET

Washington (AP)—After months of investigation, the congressional hearings into the Ku Klux Klan will begin Tuesday, the House Un-American Activities Committee announced Thursday.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., declined to say who will be the first witness. But the committee is expected to open the hearings by putting the spotlight on the biggest and best known—the United Klans of America headed by Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton.

Shelton's group, some of whose members have been arrested in civil rights violence, is said to have grown to about 50,000 members.

Willis, whose Southern-dominated committee doesn't want to give its critics a chance to cry "whitewash," said in his statement that the hearings would be lengthy.

The committee is known to have more than 200 witnesses ready—including Klan officials, former Klansmen and some who are reported to have taken part in bombings and night rides.

With such a witness list, the committee staff is said to be planning for as many as 13 weeks of hearings.

Callan To Press For Early Authorization Of Post Office

Washington (AP)—Plans to press early next year for congressional authorization of a $3,694,000 post office building and a $14,890,000 court house and federal office building at Lincoln were announced Thursday by Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb.

He said that if the post office is not authorized, the Post Office Department has agreed to go ahead with plans to have a structure built by private capital and leased to the government.

"I have talked with Post Office Department officials and plans have been approved for either construction, if authorized or private building of the post office project with the government then leasing it," Callan told a reporter.

"There will be no delay on the post office project. It could not be started before January. I will go before the House Public Works Committee when Congress reconvenes in January and urge the construction authorization.

"If the House committee approves it, the General Services Administration can then construct it. If we don't get that authority, the post office can go ahead with the construction-lease project. Lincoln needs a new post office."

He said he also would urge the House Public Works Committee in January to approve authorization of the court house and federal building.

NO lack of activity in suburbia

The Cornhuskers won't be playing in Lincoln this weekend and for many suburban residents it seems like the ideal time to catch up on plans that were postponed because of football activity. This weekend also is a good time to rest after entertaining the many visitors who came to see N.U. in action.

In the news today there are birthday parties, dinners and a bridge and a pinochle club. There is also news of one suburban area bidding a sad farewell to a departing family.

EASTBOROUGH

Eastborough will be losing a family soon. Capt. and Mrs. J. B. McLeroy will be leaving for Sacramento, Calif. on Oct. 28th. As a farewell to Mrs. McLeroy, Mrs. Norman Peterson is hosting a coffee at her home this afternoon. There will be 10 guests present to wish Mrs. McLeroy good traveling.

Mrs. McLeRoy's mother, Mrs. E. E. Gustafson of Ft. Worth, Tex. is a house guest of her son-in-law and daughter this week. Enjoying visiting with their grandmother are the two young McLeroys, Shelley and Brad.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

Hilltop Road had more than the usual amount of travel on it, last Saturday night. Miss Donna Schultz had a reunion for all of her classmates, who graduated from University High School last spring.

Former residents of Lincoln Heights have been spending one month in the area. They are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sherman, who are now living in California. The Shermans are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Herrington. Other news from the Herrington household includes the new addition to their family. Michael Ray was born Friday, Oct. 1, at Bryan Hospital. One interesting thing here is that this date is also Mr. Sherman's birthday. Michael has three sisters, Shelley, Donna, and Julie.

Saturday, Oct. 16, will be a special day for someone in Lincoln Heights. On this day, Jackie Herrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herrington, will be 10 years old. For a pre-celebration today, Jackie is taking three of her friends, Debbie Torres, Sandy Fricke, and Paula Gates, out for dinner.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Saturday is an important day in the life of Anne Wilson. On Saturday Anne will be guest of honor at her fourth birthday party at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson. Eight of her friends are invited for ice cream and cake. Also helping their granddaughter celebrate her anniversary will be Mr. and Mrs. George Kurtz of Oakley, Kan. who will arrive in Lincoln this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Willemsen entertained a former Northeast Heights family at dinner on Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Rewerts and their daughter, Mariann. The Rewerts moved from the area in June and now are residing in Papillion.

SOUTH BROOK SUMMIT

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D. Sederburg will be missing one member of their family next week. Daughter Linda, who is four, will be spending the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Campbell, in Nebraska City.

MEADOW LANE

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Haring had as their houseguest last weekend. Gene Watson of St. Joseph, Mo. Mr. Watson, who is a big Missouri fan, traveled to Lincoln to preview the Cornhusker football team. When Nebraska plays in Columbia Oct. 30 the Harings will be guests of Mr. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Derrill Trook will be entertaining their pinochle club this Saturday evening. The guests, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Kirk, will dine out before returning to the Trook home for an evening of their favorite pastime.

EASTRIDGE

Kim Yeutter celebrates her third birthday today with a party for six of her friends. Kim, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Yeutter, served ice cream and cake to guests Mark Schmeckpeper, Donna Downing, Jim Hartsock, Tom Fischbach and Tom Herrington.

Mrs. Gerald Maddox will be hostess to the members of her bridge club at her home on Wednesday. Guests for luncheon and bridge will be Mrs. Richard Stehly, Mrs. Dale McCracken, Mrs. Ken Pohlman, Mrs. Bill Zietz, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Gordon Pejsar and Mrs. Bill Sonderegger.

STATE hospital auxiliaries convene

Meeting in Lincoln on Thursday in conjunction with the Nebraska Hospital Association were members of the state Hospital Auxiliaries, who authorized official awards to honor the many volunteers participating in auxiliary projects.

The awards—tiny pins in the shape of the state of Nebraska—will be available to junior volunteers, "Candy Stripers", as well as adult volunteers.

Following a morning coffee at the Governor's Mansion,, Mrs. Leon Nefsky of Lincoln, state chairman, presided at the meeting. From the left are Mrs. Nefsky; Mrs. Andrew Randolph, Azle, Tex.; Mrs. Ardean Petersen, Hampton; Mrs. Fred Largen,Creighton; Mrs. Eugene F. Brown, Omaha; and Mrs. L. A. Hand, Jr., Sidney.

TOWN TALK

It's almost a 'you name it, we have it' morning for news—There is a new address to mention—a birthday celebration to talk about—a traveler—and HOMECOMING guests and parties.

* * *

And just because we don't know which of our news goodies to mention first we'll begin with the new address—It is 1620 Circle Dr., and it belongs to Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean who, with their sons Jimmy and Jack, will be moving in about two weeks.

* * *

Before we venture into the Homecoming festivities we think you should know about guests who were in town last weekend, and we have in mind Mr. and Mrs. Rod Fletcher and their sons, John and Andy of St. Joseph, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher and their sons were the house guests of Mrs. Fletcher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miles.

* * *

But about that birthday celebration—Next Monday evening Mrs. Walton Ferris will honor Mr. Ferris—and his anniversary—when she entertains a group of guests at a dessert supper and an evening of bridge—at home.

* * *

Our traveler is Mrs. A. Craig O'Brien who flies off today to Greenwich, Conn., and the reunion of her prep school class at Rosemary Hall. Mrs. O'Brien will be back in town on the far side of the weekend.

* * *

Now for some of the Homecoming news—

We learned just now that Dr. and Mrs. Frank Court of Denver, formerly of Lincoln, are coming for the game weekend—and that they will be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walton C. Ferris.

On Friday evening, Oct. 22, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Casey will compliment Dr. and Mrs. Court when they entertain at dinner at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Casey also will be a dinner host and hostess on Saturday evening when Dr. and Mrs. Court are again the honorees.

* * *

Next Thursday is 'arrivals day.' One of the guests who is coming from Minneapolis, Minn., for the game weekend is Mrs. McIvor Steiner who will be the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbot.

* * *

Also arriving from Minneapolis for the game, and to be the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Crabill will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward Landes and their daughter, Mary Ann.

Passage Of Medicare Won't Swamp Hospitals, Meet Told

The director of the American Hospital Association told some 400 Nebraska hospital administrators and staff personnel Thursday that he doesn't believe hospitals will be swamped with patients because of the passage of medicare.

Dr. Erwin L. Crosby told the Nebraska Hospital Association's 29th annual convention that the hospital and its supporting community would be in better financial condition because it would receive payment for all aged patients, which, he said, "is not the case today."

New officers elected Thursday are Leo P.Bolin of Sidney, president; Spencer E Brader of Omaha, president elect; Eugene G. Edwards of Lincoln, vice president; William T. Schweickert of Falls City, treasurer; Robert Brungard of Lincoln, assistant treasurer, and Sister Antonette of Omaha, secretary.

Trustees

Elected to three-year terms on the board of trustees were Daryl A. Wade of Norfolk, Jerry W Kenney of Hastings James A Canedy of Omaha and Eva Tyler of Valentine.

Crosby warned that never before has the "partnership between government and hospitals been faced with such a critical reality as now."

The American Hospital Association (AHA), Crosby said, believes that federal financing is necessary, but that care for the aged should face a test of reasonable need and be administered through voluntary pre-payment systems

Only Reason

Bolin told members at a banquet that, "In an age when yesterday's unknowns are today's accomplished facts, don't forget our only reason for existence—the patients' care."

Charles W. Ferguson, a senior editor of The Reader's Digest, also addressed the banquet, telling members, "There are certain words that hurt and others that heal. Learn and continue to use (language) with love."

Dr. Crosby also awarded certificates for 25-year membership in the association to the Doctors Hospital in Omaha. St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island and the Lutheran Hospital at Columbus.

Plan Drawn For Year-Round Head Start Program

Project Head Start is slated to be a year-round program in Lincoln starting near the first of the year if a proposal to be written by the Lincoln Public Schools is accepted by the Board of Education and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Members of the advisory committee to last summer's Head Start Thursday night formally accepted the school system's offer to write a proposal taking over the summer program and extending it into a twelve-month operation.

The district will work closely with the advisory committee, which will probably be enlarged to include area parent representatives, in preparing the project application.

Formation Process

The school proposal will not have to have approval from Lincoln's Community Action Agency since it is still in the formation process and will not expect to be operating with federal approval or be funded by that time, according to Ron Jensen, Technical Assistance Agency director.

However, he added, the schools will have to show evidence of coordinating plans with the infant agency.

Vice Supt. Arzell Ball proposed that the school project be written for 200 four-year-olds in a $100,000 program, and then presented to the committee for suggestions and trimming if advisable.

Five Centers

Ball and Dr. Rudy Fredstrom, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum, indicated that the school would probably be thinking in terms of five centers operating morning and afternoon sessions. At least one meal, school bus transportation and certified teachers would be provided, they said

Art May of the Lincoln Community Council pointed out that future Head Start projects would have to adhere to tighter enrollment stipulations, with 90% of the children required to be from families with less than $3,000 annual income.

Committee members generally agreed that more parental involvement and visitations would be possible if classes were held four days per week, allowing one day for the teacher to counsel with parents.

Dr. Ball said that the project would "blend in quite well" with the schools' Neighborhood Youth Corps, in which students are employed and could be used as teacher aides in Head Start, and other programs for the educationally deprived.

Hardin Links Learning, Economy

Omaha (AP)—Education and the economy go hand in hand, Chancellor Clifford Hardin of the University of Nebraska said Thursday night.

Addressing Nebraska educators on the eve of the inauguration of Leland E. Traywick as the eighth president of the University of Omaha, Dr. Hardin declared:

"If 15 years ago the plains states had demanded an upgrading of their educational institutions, their economy and cultural patters would have been expanded considerably."

All Nebraskans should be allowed to develop their talents to the fullest extent, he said. This would:

—Increase full productivity.

—Supply quality services to other states as well as to Nebraska.

—Be a great satisfaction to Nebraskans as a whole.

He recommended the institutions of higher learning in Nebraska close ranks and work together.

There still may be a few limited areas where some competition exists, and this is probably good, but these are in sharp contrast to the many places "where we can benefit from close cooperation."

Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen, acting for Gov. Frank Morrison who is on a trade mission in Europe, said "to often" it is plain politican and educators don't understand each other.

"I refuse to accept this," he said. One of the major beneficiaries of education is the society at large, he said.

More than 300 persons including representatives of each state college and University in Nebraska attended the banquet sponsored by the University of Omaha's Board of Regents.

President Traywick will be installed in ceremonies in the Omaha University stadium Friday. Representatives of more than 300 colleges and universities in the United States and Great Britian are expected to attend

Second GOP Unit Member Leaves Post

Omaha (AP)—Mrs. Leo Osborne of Omaha became the second member of the Nebraska Republican State Central Committee to resign.

In a telegram to State GOP Chairman Walter Witthoff of Fremont, Mrs. Osborn said: "I will not be a party to deny any one membership in the Republican Party and thereby deny that person the right to vote purely because such person is a member of a so-called extremist group. Please accept my resignation from the Republican State Central Committee."

Mrs. Osborne, a member of the committee since last November, declined to elaborate on the telegram or her plans for the future.

On Wednesday Lincoln attorney Butler D. Shaffer resigned from the committee.

Rescue Workers Recover 2 Dead At Bridge Wreck

Springfield, Ohio (AP) — Rescue workers have recovered the bodies of two persons who were killed when an old steel truss bridge collapsed into the Mad River, hurling their auto into the water.

The victims were identified by sheriff's deputies as Charles S. McCue, 54, and Mrs. Margaret L. Lester, both of Fairborn, Ohio

Witnesses said the car apparently struck the narrow bridge last night, jarring it from its foundation. The span toppled into the river, flipping the car over and into the water. The bridge landed on top of the overturned auto.

ask attorney about the law

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My bachelor cousin came to town and I invited him to stay with me and my 14-year-old son. I am a widow, 48, and this cousin is at least 65. He is retired, financially comfortable and good company. He pays his share which helps me a lot as I have no income except what I work for. Besides, he takes me places, is good to my son and I like his company.

Everyone in the neighborhood was friendly toward him until we told them we planned to get married. This is no torrid romance, Abby, it's just a marriage of convenience for both of us. A neighbor told me that it is against the law to marry your cousin, and according to the Bible, it's incest. Is this true?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Don't worry about what your neighbor said. Consult a lawyer about the legalities. (Laws pertaining to marriage between cousins differ from state to state.) If it's legal, it's moral.

DEAR ABBY: I have received a proposal of marriage from a man 50 years of age. (I am 41.) He has had a very good education and is a successful businessman, but his table manners are atrocious! Abby, he does even know how to hold a fork properly.

Is it possible to teach a man his age how to eat? I doubt if I could sit across the table from him for the rest of my life and overlook it. So how do I tell him? I do not want to lose him.

DELICATE PROBLEM

DEAR DELICATE: Yes, it's possible to teach a man his age how to eat. But don't attempt to overhaul his entire method of eating all at once. One "suggestion" at a time is sufficient. And let him know that you are correcting him not because you are "ashamed" of him, but because you love him.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: When I met Obert he was a fighter pilot in the Air Force. He told me he would "soon" be out and we would settle down and establish a home. We have been married for ten years now, have four children and have moved 16 times. Obert is gone on missions over 60 per cent of the time. He comes home long enough to move us to some dirty, old, falling down house then he takes off again to "save his country," and I am left with yelling kids and the unpacking to do. Every time I get a house cleaned up, painted and papered, it's time to move again.

I want a permanent home Abby. And a husband to help me raise our children. This moving is especially hard on the children as two of them are physically handicapped and it's not easy for them to adjust to changes. Would I be justified in leaving an otherwise good man because I despise this way of living?

PART-TIME WIFE

DEAR WIFE: No, but talk it over. Since Obert did lead you to believe that he did not intend to spend his life in the Air Force, he owes you some assurance that his future will be charted out with this in mind.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONSTANT WORRIER IN ROCK ISLAND: Worry has never solved anything. Take care of your character and your reputation will take care of itself.

Problems: Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

it's quiz time

B. Jay Becker

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | Pass | 1 ♥ |
| Pass | ? | | |

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠8 ♥10953 ♦AK975 ♣Q94
2. ♠A8 ♥Q54 ♦J75 ♣K7632
3. ♠Q95 ♥J2 ♦KJ73 ♣AJ62
4. ♠KJ63 ♥9 ♦Q74 ♣KQ985
5. ♠J93 ♥AJ762 ♦KQ94 ♣6

1. Three hearts. Responses by a player who has previously passed are in a different category from those made by a player who has never passed. Obviously, an original pass denies the values required for an opening bid. The opener is consequently not obligated to bid again, regardless of the response, if he thinks there cannot be a game opposite the passed hand.

Thus a two diamond response would not force North to bid again, even though, without a pass originally, the change of suit would constitute a 100% force. In the same way, even the jump raise to three hearts is not forcing. North is permitted to pass if he thinks game cannot be made. However, the jump to three hearts is much more likely to induce a further bid from North than a response of two diamonds.

2. Two hearts. This bid is preferable to either two clubs or one notrump, either of which North may pass. The heart raise has a better chance of coaxing another bid from North because the announced heart fit is certain to increase the value of his hand.

3. Two notrump. Ordinarily, this bid would indicate 13 to 15 points, but, after passing, a player may respond two notrump with 11 to 13 points if he has the right distribution and sufficient strength in the unbid suits.

4. Two clubs. The practice of naming the longer suit first is followed here as usual. The intention is to show the spades over the expected rebid of two hearts. Partner will thus be apprized that the spades are only four cards in length and that the club suit is longer. Game is unlikely if North passes two clubs.

5. Four hearts. It would be unnecessarily dangerous to run the risk of having the contract die under game. To jump to three hearts instead of four would permit partner to pass, and our hand is far too likely to produce ten tricks for this risk to be run.

Reappraised in support of a heart bid, our hand assumes the full strength for an opening bid. The golden rule that an opening bid facing an opening bid means game is applied. The best thing to do, therefore, is bid the game at once.

NO lack of activity in suburbia

The Cornhuskers won't be playing in Lincoln this weekend and for many suburban residents it seems like the ideal time to catch up on plans that were postponed because of football activity. This weekend also is a good time to rest after entertaining the many visitors who came to see N.U. in action

In the news today there are birthday parties, dinners and a bridge and a pinochle club. There is also news of one suburban area bidding a sad farewell to a departing family

EASTBOROUGH

Eastborough will be losing a family soon. Capt. and Mrs. J. B. McLeroy will be leaving for Sacramento, Calif. on Oct. 28th. As a farewell to Mrs McLeroy, Mrs. Norman Peterson is hosting a coffee at her home this afternoon. There will be 10 guests present to wish Mrs. McLeroy good traveling

Mrs. McLeRoy's mother, Mrs E E. Gustafson of Ft. Worth, Tex. is a house guest of her son-in-law and daughter this week. Enjoying visiting with their grandmother are the two young McLeroys, Shelley and Brad.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

Hilltop Road had more than the usual amount of travel on it, last Saturday night. Miss Donna Schultz had a reunion for all of her classmates, who graduated from University High School last spring

Former residents of Lincoln Heights have been spending one month in the area. They are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sherman, who are now living in California. The Shermans are house guests of Mr. and Mrs Donald Herrington. Other news from the Herrington household includes the new addition to their family. Michael Ray was born Friday, Oct. 1, at Bryan Hospital. One interesting thing here is that this date is also Mr Sherman's birthday. Michael has three sisters, Shelley, Donna, and Julie.

Saturday, Oct 16, will be a special day for someone in Lincoln Heights. On this day, Jackie Herrington, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Ronald Herrington, will be 10 years old. For a pre-celebration today, Jackie is taking three of her friends, Debbie Torres, Sandy Fricke, and Paula Gates, out for dinner

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Saturday is an important day in the life of Anne Wilson. On Saturday Anne will be guest of honor at her fourth birthday party at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wilson. Eight of her friends are invited for ice cream and cake. Also helping their granddaughter celebrate her anniversary will be Mr. and Mrs George Kurtz of Oakley, Kan who will arrive in Lincoln this week

Mr and Mrs. Henry A. Willemsen entertained a former Northeast Heights family at dinner on Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Rewerts and their daughter, Mariann. The Rewerts moved from the area in June and now are residing in Papillion.

SOUTH BROOK SUMMIT

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D Sederburg will be missing one member of their family next week. Daughter Linda, who is four, will be spending the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Campbell, in Nebraska City.

MEADOW LANE

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Haring had as their houseguest last weekend. Gene Watson of St. Joseph, Mo. Mr. Watson, who is a big Missouri fan, traveled to Lincoln to preview the Cornhusker football team. When Nebraska plays in Columbia Oct. 30 the Harings will be guests of Mr Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Derrill Trook will be entertaining their pinochle club this Saturday evening. The guests, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Kirk, will dine out before returning to the Trook home for an evening of their favorite pastime

Kim Yeutter celebrates her third birthday today with a party for six of her friends. Kim, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Clayton Yeutter, served ice cream and cake to guests Mark Schmeckpeper, Donna Downing, Jim Hartsock, Tom Fischbach and Tom Herrington.

Mrs. Gerald Maddox will be hostess to the members of her bridge club at her home on Wednesday. Guests for luncheon and bridge will be Mrs. Richard Stehly, Mrs. Dale McCracken, Mrs. Ken Pohlman, Mrs. Bill Zietz, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Gordon Pejsar and Mrs. Bill Sonderegger.

STATE hospital auxiliaries convene

Meeting in Lincoln on Thursday in conjunction with the Nebraska Hospital Association were members of the state Hospital Auxiliaries, who authorized official awards to honor the many volunteers participating in auxiliary projects.

The awards—tiny pins in the shape of the state of Nebraska—will be available to junior volunteers, "Candy Stripers" as well as adult volunteers

Following a morning coffee at the Governor's Mansion,, Mrs Leon Nefsky of Lincoln, state chairman, presided at the meeting. From the left are Mrs. Nefsky, Mrs Andrew Randolph, Azle, Tex.; Mrs Ardean Petersen Hampton, Mrs Fred Largen, Creighton, Mrs Eugene F Brown, Omaha, and Mrs L A Hand, Jr Sidney

TOWN TALK

It's almost a 'you name it, we have it' morning for news—There is a new address to mention—a birthday celebration to talk about—a traveler—and HOMECOMING guests and parties.

* * *

And just because we don't know which of our news goodies to mention first we'll begin with the new address—It is 1620 Circle Dr., and it belongs to Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean who, with their sons Jimmy and Jack, will be moving in about two weeks.

* * *

Before we venture into the Homecoming festivities we think you should know about guests who were in town last weekend, and we have in mind Mr. and Mrs. Rod Fletcher and their sons, John and Andy of St. Joseph, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher and their sons were the house guests of Mrs. Fletcher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miles.

* * *

But about that birthday celebration—Next Monday evening Mrs. Walton Ferris will honor Mr. Ferris—and his anniversary—when she entertains a group of guests at a dessert supper and an evening of bridge—at home.

* * *

Our traveler is Mrs. A. Craig O'Brien who flies off today to Greenwich, Conn., and the reunion of her prep school class at Rosemary Hall. Mrs. O'Brien will be back in town on the far side of the weekend.

* * *

Now for some of the Homecoming news—

We learned just now that Dr. and Mrs Frank Court of Denver, formerly of Lincoln, are coming for the game weekend—and that they will be the house guests of Mr and Mrs Walton C Ferris

On Friday evening, Oct 22, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Casey will compliment Dr. and Mrs. Court when they entertain at dinner at their home. Mr. and Mrs. Casey also will be a dinner host and hostess on Saturday evening when Dr. and Mrs. Court are again the honorees.

* * *

Next Thursday is 'arrivals day.' One of the guests who is coming from Minneapolis, Minn, for the game weekend is Mrs. McIvor Steiner who will be the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbot

* * *

Also arriving from Minneapolis for the game, and to be the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Crabill will be Mr. and Mrs Edward Landes and their daughter, Mary Ann.

We have been married for ten years now, have four children and have moved 16 times. Obert is gone on missions over 60 per cent of the time. BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | Pass | 1 ♥ |
| Pass | ? | | |

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠8 ♥10953 ♦AK975 ♣Q94
2. ♠A8 ♥Q54 ♦J75 ♣K7632
3. ♠Q95 ♥J2 ♦KJ73 ♣AJ62
4. ♠KJ63 ♥9 ♦Q74 ♣KQ985
5. ♠J93 ♥AJ762 ♦KQ94 ♣6

1. Three hearts. Responses by a player who has previously passed are in a different category from those made by a player who has never passed. Obviously, an original pass denies the values required for an opening bid. The opener is consequently not obligated to bid again, regardless of the response, if he thinks there cannot be a game opposite the passed hand.

Thus a two diamond response would not force North to bid again, even though, without a pass originally, the change of suit would constitute a 100% force. In the same way, even the jump raise to three hearts is not forcing. North is permitted to pass if he thinks game cannot be made. However, the jump to three hearts is much more likely to induce a further bid from North than a response of two diamonds.

2. Two hearts. This bid is preferable to either two clubs or one notrump, either of which North may pass. The heart raise has a better chance of coaxing another bid from North because the announced heart fit is certain to increase the value of his hand.

3. Two notrump. Ordinarily, this bid would indicate 13 to 15 points, but, after passing, a player may respond two notrump with 11 to 13 points if he has the right distribution and sufficient strength in the unbid suits.

4. Two clubs. The practice of naming the longer suit first is followed here as usual. The intention is to show the spades over the expected rebid of two hearts. Partner will thus be apprized that the spades are only four cards in length and that the club suit is longer. Game is unlikely if North passes two clubs.

5. Four hearts. It would be unnecessarily dangerous to run the risk of having the contract die under game. To jump to three hearts instead of four would permit partner to pass, and our hand is far too likely to produce ten tricks for this risk to be run.

Reappraised in support of a heart bid, our hand assumes the full strength for an opening bid. The golden rule that an opening bid facing an opening bid means game is applied. The best thing to do, therefore, is bid the game at once.

Jolt From The West

The nation's football coaches didn't pay much attention to the first jolting movement from the west (Denver's earthquake of a couple weeks ago), but they all noticed the jolt that came out of Utah last weekend.

That shock wave hit with a full impact upon those men who guide the fortunes of the football-playing students at our nation's colleges.

The jolt was caused by the 42-3 decision by Utah State over Wyoming in a game that opened with the losers tagged as favorites. And the jolt was expecially noticeable to coaches who are going against lightly-regarded foes this week.

Nebraska's Bob Devaney is one of them.

"We (coaches) worry about everyone now," he pointed out this week in duscussing Kansas State. "This is such a goofy game we're playing that you never know what is going to happen.

"All you have to do to start worrying is look at that Wyoming game last week. They went into the game favored by about two touchdowns and wind up losing, 42-3."

However, since sports writers are not prone to the worries that beset coaches, call this week's game: NEBRASKA 41, Kansas State 7.

.741 Last Week

Last week's percentage was .741 on 43 right, 15 wrong and no ties making the season record 153 right, 68 wrong with seven ties for a .686 percentage mark.

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP)—Sandy Koufax, the golden arm of the Los Angeles Dodgers, won the World Series Thursday when he fired a 2-0, three-hit shutout at the Minnesota Twins in the seventh game before a record of 50,596 fans at Metropolitan Stadium.

Coming back with only two days rest after his 7-0 victory Monday at Los Angeles, Koufax finally ended the streak of home park domination in this Series. Sandy ended the game with a strikeout flourish, mowing down his ninth and 10th victims for the last two outs.

Koufax, who had won and lost in previous duels with Jim Kaat, the Twins' left-handed ace, yielded a single to Zoilo Versalles in the third, a double to rookie Frank Quilici in the fifth, and a single to Harmon Killebrew in the ninth.

KOUFAX . . . works with determination against Jim Katt.

Lou Johnson, a much traveled athlete who has made the scene at Ponca City, Olean, Lancaster and way points before the Dodgers brought him up in May, hit the home run that doomed Kaat. The 31-year-old outfielder from Lexington, Ky., hit the foul pole screen in left, leading off the fourth inning.

Koufax escaped from his most serious man in the fifth on a brilliant play by Jim Gilliam. Quilici's double to the left center screen and a walk to pinch hitter Rich Rollins on a 3-2 pitch that drew protests from Koufax gave the Twins their best shot of the sunny afternoon.

Versalles rapped a hot drive down the third base line that Gilliam gloved behind the bag and was able to scramble to third base in time to force Quilici.

The big home town crowd, which had cheered Koufax when he came to bat in the top of the ninth, whooped it up for the Twins in the last inning as Killebrew singled to left with one out.

But Earl Battey struck out on three blazers and Bob Allison went down swinging for the ninth time in the Series.

Drysdale was warming up in the bullpen through the early innings, especially when Sandy walked Tony Oliva and Killebrew in the first after retiring the first two batters. But big Don never was needed. Nor was anybody else.

Koufax remained in control all the way, striking out six in the first three innings and then biding his time for a blazing finish.

He retired 12 men in a row at one time, until Killebrew singled in the ninth. The Twins got only two men as far as second, and no one reached third.

It was the third straight National League Series success and their eighth in the last 12 years although the American still holds a 37-25 edge. For the Dodgers it was their third in a row since they moved to Los Angeles from Brooklyn, where their post-season record was a less glamorous 1-8.

More On Series, Page 19

Alston, the senior citizen among National League managers, at 53 with 12 years of service behind him, won his fourth Series to only one defeat.

The Dodgers probably will slice up about $9,800 each and the Twins will take home a healthy consolation prize of about $6,500 from the players' pool of $885,612.

Exact shares will be announced later by Commissioner Ford Frick, who jealously guards any news about the way the boys whacked up the dough.

Sandy's 10 strikeouts left him with a total of 29 for the Series, only two short of the record set last year by Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The 29-year-old lefty lost the second game to Kaat 5-1, won the fifth game 7-0, and then closed it out with a sparkler that gave the Dodgers all the marbles. He struck out everybody in the Twins' starting lineup except Joe Nossek and Killebrew.

Until Koufax took charge the home teams had won all of the games. The Twins looked great in Metropolitan Stadium and the Dodgers ran them out of the park at Los Angeles. This was the first time they even had to play the last of the ninth.

Gilliam's big stop on Versalles' grounder was the defensive play of the finale, but Tony Oliva of the Twins ran deep into right center to drag down Johnson's long smash in the fifth and made a somersault catch of Johnson's dropping fly ball in the first.

The Dodgers might have broken through in the third if Kaat, backing up the plate, had not been in perfect position to take Oliva's throw when it got past catcher Battey with men on second and third and only one out.

There was a slight fuss in the third when Versalles, who was on first base, apparently stole second base on John Roseboro's weak throw. The Dodgers protested, however, and plate umpire Ed Hurley backed them up by ruling that batter Joe Nossek had interfered with Roseboro on the play.

Versalles was ordered back to first and Nossek was called out despite the protests of Manager Sam Mele of the Twins.

A few minutes later Mele came running from the bench to break up a jaw fest between his third base coach, Billy Martin, and Hurley.

The Dodgers struck quickly to chase Kaat in the fourth. Johnson's homer, Fairly's double and then Parker's single, on which Oliva mishandled the ball letting Parker go to second base, brought out Mele.

Kaat gave way to Al Worthington, who was followed by Johnny Klippstein, Jim Merritt and Jim Perry, all of whom pitched shutout ball.

Koufax had his only serious lapse of control in the first. He was working carefully on Oliva after retiring the first two Twins and finally lost Tony on a 3-2 pitch. Then he got off the beam and threw four straight balls to Killebrew.

In fairness to Kaat it should be pointed out that he, like Koufax, also was working with only two days' rest in a gallant but futile effort to match the iron man work of Jim Mudcat Grant, who pulled the stunt in the sixth game.

Dodger Titles 'Becoming Habit'

. . . LA Owner O'Malley Praises Walter Alston

Minneapolis - St. Paul (AP)—As the bedlam subsided in the Los Angeles dressing room Thursday, Dodger owner Walter O'Malley carefully pushed through the crowd, stepping gingerly toward Walt Alston, and throwing his arms around the manager, said:

"Walt, it's getting to be a habit."

"But," replied Alston, "we sure did it the hard way."

That was more indicative of Alston's feelings toward his 1965 World Champions than anything he would say directly when asked to compare the present club with his three other Series' winners.

"The 1955 one was our first," Alston said, "so that was exciting. Then in 1959 we came from behind to win in a tight race and in 1963 they came back after blowing it the year before."

"This is a club that all year long has had to battle. All year long this team has scratched."

But he would go no farther in making comparisons.

Alston was more than willing to make comparisons when he was asked about Sandy Koufax, who pitched a three-hit, 2-0 shutout with two days rest.

"You guys are the writers. I really can't think of anything different," said Alston. "He's just the best lefty I've ever seen."

Alston added that at no time did he consider removing the Dodger ace.

"When I went out to talk to him in the fifth inning he was still throwing good," Alston explained. "Even if Versalles' hit gets by Gilliam I kind of doubt if I'd take him out that quickly. I know he's throwing good.

"He has a habit of reaching back and throwing too hard when he's in trouble and I didn't want him to. That's why I went out.

"Then I checked with him on the bench in the seventh inning and he said he was all right. After that I'd almost made up my mind it's Sandy's game to win or lose."

While Alston talked quietly shouts of "Let's get out of here" were thrown around the room by various players while champagne quickly drenched the floor and made walking slightly precarious.

On the opposite side of the small clubhouse from Alston, a perspiring Koufax fielded question after question.

"I was trying to go as far as I could," he said. "I tired in the fifth and Alston told me not to reach back too hard. How does it feel? This one feels better because it's the last one. It's over."

Almost everyone was swigging champagne now, and Don Drysdale, who went to the bullpen while Koufax started, laughed:

"I pitched a shutout out there."

Asked how many times he had been up, Drysdale said:

"I was up in six innings. I couldn't see the game very well, but I pitched like heck."

Of the two other Dodger heroes, Lou Johnson and Jim Gilliam, Johnson easily was the more excited.

He was one of the first in the dressing room and continued to hop up and down as he talked about his homer.

"He Kaat didn't throw good," Johnson said. "The day he beat us he didn't throw good. I hit a fast ball, and I have to say I was looking for it. The whole Series I've been getting nothing but curve, curve, curve.

"Yes, I knew it was gone," he added. "But I thought it might go foul."

Gilliam, the 36-year-old veteran infielder who started out the season as a coach, ate a snack as he talked evenly about his great stop on Zoilo Versalles' smash with two on in the fifth inning.

"I didn't even have time to think about it," said Gilliam.

"It was about a foot from the bag and as I grabbed it I slipped to one knee. But I saw the runner and knew I had time so I got up and stepped on the bag."

Looking a little forlorn in the entire celebration was pitcher Johnny Podres, the first to open a champagne bottle.

The 1955 World Series hero, however, had this tribute for his teammates.

"This team has the greatest spirit of any club I've ever been on. It's had to battle all year. I think winning that way has to be more satisfying."

—SELECTS 40-MAN SQUAD—

Devaney Hates To Leave Any Gridders At Home

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney picked his 40-man traveling roster Thursday for the Kansas State game at Manhattan Saturday, then expressed disappointment that a number of deserving Huskers had to be left at home.

"We feel badly about not being able to take boys who have shown improvement this season," he said. "There are several boys who we feel have earned the right to go but because we can only take 40, we must leave them at home."

The Big Eight imposes a limit of 40 players for its members while playing on the road against another Big Eight school. There is no limit on the number of players the home school may suit up.

Devaney listed Roger Kudrna, Gary Brichacek, Jim McCord, Barry Alvarez, Bob Hill and Dennis Thorell among the players whom he felt deserving of a trip.

DEFENSE

Ends—Zimmer, Patton, Janik.
Tackles—Barnes, Stith, Czap, Narish.
Middle guards—Murphy, Strohmyer.
Linebackers—Kennedy, R. Coleman, Senkbeil, Johnson.

NU-Missouri Tilt To Be Televised?

Nebraska University Athletic Director Tippy Dye announced Thursday that the Missouri - Nebraska football game may be carried on closed circuit sets at the Omaha City Auditorium and the NU Coliseum.

Dye said he is negotiating with the NCAA to see if such a plan would be acceptable to that group.

The last NU game to be telecast via a closed circuit system was the Husker-Sooner contest at Norman, Okla., last year.

Irv Peterson Calls Practice For Oct. 25

Varsity basketball drills will get under way at Nebraska Wesleyan University Oct. 25, coach Irv Peterson said Thursday.

The Plainsmen will thus have 5½ weeks of workouts before the season-opening Midwest Tourney at Wesleyan Dec. 2.

Peterson said freshman candidates will begin drills Monday. He said the early start will give him an opportunity to evaluate the rookies before concentrating on varsity drills.

Mike Knaub, 1965 Wesleyan graduate, will handle the frosh coaching chores.

The Wesleyan varsity will have 11 lettermen back from last season's squad that posted a 13-11 record. Two of these—Dwight Tietjen and Skip Petreson—were starters.

Dye Working To Improve Public Address System

Nebraska athletic director Tippy Dye has announced that efforts are being made each week to improve the quality of the public address system at Memorial Stadium.

"We are getting a lot of complaints and we know that the new addition has created problems which make for a number of PA problems," Dye said. "We will try to improve it game by game this year, even though it would be impossible to install a new one yet this season.

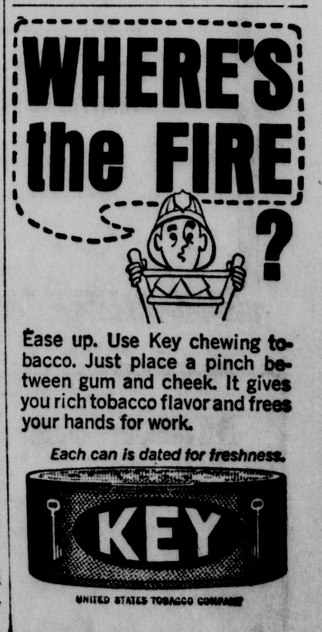

"We know it is not good and we know we must improve it," he added.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. # Lincoln To Host 2 Top High School Grid Games

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Capital City high school football fans have a pair of top attractions to choose from Friday night as Lincoln High tangles with Southeast at Seacrest Field and Creighton Prep invades Pius X.

The stage is set for top productions at either location.

The Lincoln High-Southeast series has been the closest intra-city rivalry in recent campaigns. The seven-year series stands 4-3 in favor of the Links, but only two of the games have been decided by margins of more than one touchdown.

And Southeast's three consecutive wins coming into the eighth game of the series have all been by virtue of extra points.

Tenth-ranked Lincoln High, fresh from a 34-0 rout over Grand Island, ranks a slight favorite to end the three years of frustration.

"Things looked better for us last week, but I don't think Grand Island was a fair test because they've had some boys hurt," coach Andy Loehr of the Links indicates.

The Links have a lot of respect for Southeast, which played unbeaten Bellevue to a virtual standstill before falling, 6-0, last week.

Injury-plagued Southeast has only a 1-3-1 record, but coach Bill Stephenson has been displeasedwith only one effort (Fremont) by his Knights.

"Our morale is still excellent despite some bad breaks we've had," Stephenson says. "We had Bellevue on the ropes last week, but one play killed us."

Clouding the issue for the Knights this week is the doubtful status of guard Dick Splichal and halfback Dave McEwen.

Splichal and senior fullback Tom Bock were credited by Stevenson for top efforts in the upset bid against Bellevue.

Bock is one of several newcomers who have been seeing increased duty in the Knight's injury-depleted backfield corps.

Second-ranked Pius X has its second meeting with Creighton Prep, longtime power which is probably much better than its 2-3 record indicates.

"I was quite surprised with Prep's defense in their 6-2 loss to Boys Town last week," says Pius X coach Vince Aldrich, "they looked as good as any team I've seen with the exception of Boys Town."

The Thunderbolts have been working overtime on pass defense this week because Don Leahy's Junior Jays, smaller than the usual Creighton Prep teams, have opened up their passing attack this year.

Aldrich reports all hands ready for action as the Thunderbolts try to make up for last year's 40-18 thrashing administered by Creighton Prep.

White Among Top All-American Picks

Kansas City (AP)—The list of offensive All America candidates in the Midlands begins with Francis Peay, Missouri's 6-foot-4, 246-pound tackle, and Howard Twilley, Tulsa's amazing little split end.

Freeman White, Nebraska's 6-foot-5, 220-pound split end, was almost on the same level with the top two in the second report by the Associated Press regional board.

The board listed several backs as outstanding including quarterback Bill Anderson of Tulsa, who leads the nation in pass completions; quarterback Gary Lane of Missouri; halfback William Harris of Colorado and Charlie Brown of Missouri; and fullbacks Frank Solich of Nebraska and Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State.

Peay, a senior from Pittsburgh, Pa., is making a big impression with his blocking. He was the lead blocker in Brown's 47 and 37-yard runs last week and led the way for Missouri 324-yard ground game at Minnesota.

Twilley draws three and four-man coverage game after game, but keep on getting open and making amazing catches. He set an NCAA record with 95 catches last year. At his present pace he'll have 115 this year. No other man has won two straight NCAA receiving crowns. He seems certain to be the first.

White does it all, including blocking, and he's fast.

Mitchell To Use Closed Circuit TV For OU Tilt

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Jack Mitchell, Kansas football coach, says he will use closed circuit television in directing his team from the press box against Oklahoma at Norman Saturday.

The system will be hooked to a video tape recorder which will allow Mitchell to have plays rerun between downs.

Mitchell said Missouri used a similar system in beating Kansas 34-14 last fall at Columbia. He said video tape also is used during games by Texas, Nebraska and Texas Tech, among others.

"This is the coming thing," Mitchell said after watching a demonstration. "There is no question that everybody is going to have it. The more we can learn through using this system, the more prepared we will be."

Duda Faces K-State Again

. . . FRED TO PLAY SAME TEAM TWICE

Nebraska senior quarterback Fred Duda has started seven games over a three year period for the Cornhuskers.

But he has never faced the same team twice. He'll get that chance Saturday at Manhattan, when the Huskers try for win No. 5 against the Kansas State Wildcats.

Ironically, Duda—who has the enviable record of never starting in a losing cause—launched his "first string" career against the K-State Wildcats at Manhattan in 1963.

With Dennis Claridge sidelined with an ankle injury—received in the Air Force loss a week earlier—sophomore Duda was called upon to get the Huskers back on the winning track. The peppery rookie generaled a massive ground attack that outdistanced the Wildcats, 352-2, as the Huskers won, 28-6.

With the Scarlets choosing to stay on the ground—Husker defense nabbed two TDs via pass interceptions—Duda tallied only 31 yards passing, hitting on three of 13 attempts.

Duda also started the Kansas and Oklahoma State game in 1963 when Claridge was injured, then took over as the Huskers' top quarterback in 1964.

He opened against South Dakota, then staged a fantastic come-from-behind rally against Minnesota—two TD passes in the final seven minutes—to pull out a victory, before breaking a leg in the third game against Iowa State.

Last week against Wisconsin, Duda edged veteran Bobby Churchich for the starting job. And he had a fine day, including a 59-yard TD run, as he drove the Cornhuskers to a 37-0 win over the Badgers.

Here's Fred Duda's record as a starting quarterback for the Cornhuskers:

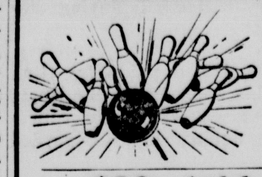

1963
Nebraska 28, Kansas State 6
Nebraska 23, Kansas 9
Nebraska 20, Oklahoma State 16
1964
Nebraska 56, South Dakota 0
Nebraska 26, Minnesota 21
Nebraska 14, Iowa State 7
1965
Nebraska 37, Wisconsin 0

"It will seem different, anyway," Duda said, referring to the fact that he'll be starting against a team for the second time. "This is a big, important game for us and we want to do a good job.

"We've been improving, and I hope we can keep our momentum going against Kansas State. It's a cinch they'll be ready to upset us if we give them a chance."

This is the first time Fred has been able to speak with experience about an opponent.

"Boy, I remember that 1963 game—they played us real tough, but our defense helped take the pressure off me with those two interception touchdowns," he said.

KOUFAX KAYOES TWINS, 2-0

...Sandy Hurls 3-Hitter To Win Series

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP)—Sandy Koufax, the golden arm of the Los Angeles Dodgers, won the World Series Thursday when he fired a 2-0, three-hit shutout at the Minnesota Twins in the seventh game before a record of 50,596 fans at Metropolitan Stadium.

Coming back with only two days rest after his 7-0 victory Monday at Los Angeles, Koufax finally ended the streak of home park domination in this Series. Sandy ended the game with a strikeout flourish, mowing down his ninth and 10th victims for the last two outs.

Koufax, who had won and lost in previous duels with Jim Kaat, the Twins' left-handed ace, yielded a single to Zoilo Versalles in the third, a double to rookie Frank Quilici in the fifth, and a single to Harmon Killebrew in the ninth.

Lou Johnson, a much traveled athlete who has made the scene at Ponca City, Olean, Lancaster and way points before the Dodgers brought him up in May, hit the home run that doomed Kaat. The 31-year-old outfielder from Lexington, Ky., hit the foul pole screen in left, leading off the fourth inning.

Koufax escaped from his most serious man in the fifth on a brilliant play by Jim Gilliam. Quilici's double to the left center screen and a walk to pinch hitter Rich Rollins on a 3-2 pitch that drew protests from Koufax gave the Twins their best shot of the sunny afternoon.

Versalles rapped a hot drive down the third base line that Gilliam gloved behind the bag and was able to scramble to third base in time to force Quilici.

The big home town crowd, which had cheered Koufax when he came to bat in the top of the ninth, whooped it up for the Twins in the last inning as Killebrew singled to left with one out.

But Earl Battey struck out on three blazers and Bob Allison went down swinging for the ninth time in the Series.

Drysdale was warming up in the bullpen through the early innings, especially when Sandy walked Tony Oliva and Killebrew in the first after retiring the first two batters. But big Don never was needed. Nor was anybody else.

Koufax remained in control all the way, striking out six in the first three innings and then biding his time for a blazing finish.

He retired 12 men in a row at one time, until Killebrew singled in the ninth. The Twins got only two men as far as second, and no one reached third.

It was the third straight National League Series success and their eighth in the last 12 years although the American still holds a 37-25 edge. For the Dodgers it was their third in a row since they moved to Los Angeles from Brooklyn, where their post-season record was a less glamorous 1-8.

More On Series, Page 19

Alston, the senior citizen among National League managers, at 53 with 12 years of service behind him, won his fourth Series to only one defeat.

The Dodgers probably will slice up about $9,800 each and the Twins will take home a healthy consolation prize of about $6,500 from the players' pool of $885,612.

Exact shares will be announced later by Commissioner Ford Frick, who jealously guards any news about the way the boys whacked up the dough.

Sandy's 10 strikeouts left him with a total of 29 for the Series, only two short of the record set last year by Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The 29-year-old lefty lost the second game to Kaat 5-1, won the fifth game 7-0, and then closed it out with a sparkler that gave the Dodgers all the marbles. He struck out everybody in the Twins' starting lineup except Joe Nossek and Killebrew.

Until Koufax took charge the home teams had won all of the games. The Twins looked great in Metropolitan Stadium and the Dodgers ran them out of the park at Los Angeles. This was the first time they even had to play the last of the ninth.

Gilliam's big stop on Versalles' grounder was the defensive play of the finale, but Tony Oliva of the Twins ran deep into right center to drag down Johnson's long smash in the fifth and made a somersault catch of Johnson's dropping fly ball in the first.

The Dodgers might have broken through in the third if Kaat, backing up the plate, had not been in perfect position to take Oliva's throw when it got past catcher Battey with men on second and third and only one out.

There was a slight fuss in the third when Versalles, who was on first base, apparently stole second base on John Roseboro's weak throw. The Dodgers protested, however, and plate umpire Ed Hurley backed them up by ruling that batter Joe Nossek had interfered with Roseboro on the play.

Versalles was ordered back to first and Nossek was called out despite the protests of Manager Sam Mele of the Twins.

A few minutes later Mele came running from the bench to break up a jaw fest between his third base coach, Billy Martin, and Hurley.

The Dodgers struck quickly to chase Kaat in the fourth. Johnson's homer, Fairly's double and then Parker's single, on which Oliva mishandled the ball letting Parker go to second base, brought out Mele.

Kaat gave way to Al Worthington, who was followed by Johnny Klippstein, Jim Merritt and Jim Perry, all of whom pitched shutout ball.

Koufax had his only serious lapse of control in the first. He was working carefully on Oliva after retiring the first two Twins and finally lost Tony on a 3-2 pitch. Then he got off the beam and threw four straight balls to Killebrew.

In fairness to Kaat it should be pointed out that he, like Koufax, also was working with only two days' rest in a gallant but futile effort to match the iron man work of Jim Mudcat Grant, who pulled the stunt in the sixth game.

Dodger Titles 'Becoming Habit'

. . . LA Owner O'Malley Praises Walter Alston

Minneapolis - St. Paul (AP)—As the bedlam subsided in the Los Angeles dressing room Thursday, Dodger owner Walter O'Malley carefully pushed through the crowd, stepping gingerly toward Walt Alston, and throwing his arms around the manager, said:

"Walt, it's getting to be a habit."

"But," replied Alston, "we sure did it the hard way."

That was more indicative of Alston's feelings toward his 1965 World Champions than anything he would say directly when asked to compare the present club with his three other Series' winners.

"The 1955 one was our first," Alston said, "so that was exciting. Then in 1959 we came from behind to win in a tight race and in 1963 they came back after blowing it the year before."

"This is a club that all year long has had to battle. All year long this team has scratched."

But he would go no farther in making comparisons.

Alston was more than willing to make comparisons when he was asked about Sandy Koufax, who pitched a three-hit, 2-0 shutout with two days rest.

"You guys are the writers. I really can't think of anything different," said Alston. "He's just the best lefty I've ever seen."

Alston added that at no time did he consider removing the Dodger ace.

"When I went out to talk to him in the fifth inning he was still throwing good," Alston explained. "Even if Versalles' hit gets by Gilliam I kind of doubt if I'd take him out that quickly. I know he's throwing good.

"He has a habit of reaching back and throwing too hard when he's in trouble and I didn't want him to. That's why I went out.

"Then I checked with him on the bench in the seventh inning and he said he was all right. After that I'd almost made up my mind it's Sandy's game to win or lose."

While Alston talked quietly shouts of "Let's get out of here" were thrown around the room by various players while champagne quickly drenched the floor and made walking slightly precarious.

On the opposite side of the small clubhouse from Alston, a perspiring Koufax fielded question after question.

"I was trying to go as far as I could," he said. "I tired in the fifth and Alston told me not to reach back too hard. How does it feel? This one feels better because it's the last one. It's over."

Almost everyone was swigging champagne now, and Don Drysdale, who went to the bullpen while Koufax started, laughed:

"I pitched a shutout out there."

Asked how many times he had been up, Drysdale said:

"I was up in six innings. I couldn't see the game very well, but I pitched like heck."

Of the two other Dodger heroes, Lou Johnson and Jim Gilliam, Johnson easily was the more excited.

He was one of the first in the dressing room and continued to hop up and down as he talked about his homer.

"He Kaat didn't throw good," Johnson said. "The day he beat us he didn't throw good. I hit a fast ball, and I have to say I was looking for it. The whole Series I've been getting nothing but curve, curve, curve.

"Yes, I knew it was gone," he added. "But I thought it might go foul."

Gilliam, the 36-year-old veteran infielder who started out the season as a coach, ate a snack as he talked evenly about his great stop on Zoilo Versalles' smash with two on in the fifth inning.

"I didn't even have time to think about it," said Gilliam.

"It was about a foot from the bag and as I grabbed it I slipped to one knee. But I saw the runner and knew I had time so I got up and stepped on the bag."

Looking a little forlorn in the entire celebration was pitcher Johnny Podres, the first to open a champagne bottle.

The 1955 World Series hero, however, had this tribute for his teammates.

"This team has the greatest spirit of any club I've ever been on. It's had to battle all year. I think winning that way has to be more satisfying."

Jolt From The West

The nation's football coaches didn't pay much attention to the first jolting movement from the west (Denver's earthquake of a couple weeks ago), but they all noticed the jolt that came out of Utah last weekend.

That shock wave hit with a full impact upon those men who guide the fortunes of the football-playing students at our nation's colleges.

The jolt was caused by the 42-3 decision by Utah State over Wyoming in a game that opened with the losers tagged as favorites. And the jolt was expecially noticeable to coaches who are going against lightly-regarded foes this week.

Nebraska's Bob Devaney is one of them.

"We (coaches) worry about everyone now," he pointed out this week in duscussing Kansas State. "This is such a goofy game we're playing that you never know what is going to happen.

"All you have to do to start worrying is look at that Wyoming game last week. They went into the game favored by about two touchdowns and wind up losing, 42-3."

However, since sports writers are not prone to the worries that beset coaches, call this week's game: NEBRASKA 41, Kansas State 7.

—SELECTS 40-MAN SQUAD—

Devaney Hates To Leave Any Gridders At Home

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney picked his 40-man traveling roster Thursday for the Kansas State game at Manhattan Saturday, then expressed disappointment that a number of deserving Huskers had to be left at home.

"We feel badly about not being able to take boys who have shown improvement this season," he said. "There are several boys who we feel have earned the right to go but because we can only take 40, we must leave them at home."

The Big Eight imposes a limit of 40 players for its members while playing on the road against another Big Eight school. There is no limit on the number of players the home school may suit up.

Devaney listed Roger Kudrna, Gary Brichacek, Jim McCord, Barry Alvarez, Bob Hill and Dennis Thorell among the players whom he felt deserving of a trip.

DEFENSE

Ends—Zimmer, Patton, Janik.
Tackles—Barnes, Stith, Czap, Narish.
Middle guards—Murphy, Strohmyer.
Linebackers—Kennedy, R. Coleman, Senkbeil, Johnson.
Halfbacks—Carstens, Mueller, Vactor, Kuehl.
Safety—Wachholtz, Poggemeyer.

OFFENSE

Ends—Jeter, Casey, White, Richnafsky.
Tackles—Brown, Taucher, Carlson.
Guards—Allers, Osberg, Meylan.
Centers—Peterson, Drum.
Quarterbacks—Duda, Churchich, Weber
Halfbacks—Tatman, Brunk, Wilson, Gregory.
Fullbacks—Solich, Wuster.

NU-Missouri Tilt To Be Televised?

Nebraska University Athletic Director Tippy Dye announced Thursday that the Missouri - Nebraska football game may be carried on closed circuit sets at the Omaha City Auditorium and the NU Coliseum.

Dye said he is negotiating with the NCAA to see if such a plan would be acceptable to that group.

The last NU game to be telecast via a closed circuit system was the Husker-Sooner contest at Norman, Okla., last year.

NU SOPHS SET FOR ACTION

Dye Working To Improve Public Address System

Nebraska athletic director Tippy Dye has announced that efforts are being made each week to improve the quality of the public address system at Memorial Stadium.

"We are getting a lot of complaints and we know that the new addition has created problems which make for a number of PA problems," Dye said. "We will try to improve it game by game this year, even though it would be impossible to install a new one yet this season.

"We know it is not good and we know we must improve it," he added.

Twins Pay Tribute To Koufax' Pitching

. . . ZOILO VERSALLES: 'I THINK THEY WERE LUCKY TODAY'

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP) — The Minnesota Twins paid tribute to Sandy Koufax as a great pitcher in their quiet dressing room Thursday after the left-hander had hurled Los Angeles to the World Series championship.

"It took another great performance by him (Koufax) to beat us," Manager Sam Mele said following the 2-0 loss. "My guys played good, damnit. I told them they did a fine job, to keep their chins up and we'll start after another one next spring."

American League President Joe Cronin was the first to enter the Twins' clubhouse after a five-minute wait for Mele to talk to his team.

"Joe," Mele said. "I wish I could have done it for you."

Replied Cronin:

"He had it—he's a great pitcher. Gilliam's play turned it around—no doubt about it. It was a great play; if the ball had gone through, it would have tied the game."

Cronin referred to Koufax and to third baseman Jim Gilliam's stop of Zoilo Versalles' hard grounder past third base in the fifth inning. It cut off one Minnesota run and possibly a second tally. Frank Quilici was on second base and pinch hitter Rich Rollins on first.

"Gilliam's play could have been the turning point," Mele agreed. "Rollins has a chance to score from first, depending on what happens in the left field corner. It was a great play, no doubt about it."

Mele said he called Dodger Manager Walter Alston to congratulate him.

"He said he hopes we meet again next year," Mele said. "That would be fine with us."

Dodger General Manager Buzzy Bavasi entered Mele's office to congratulate the Twins' manager.

Mele explained two controversies which developed between the Twins and plate umpire Ed Hurley.

One was on an interference call against Joe Nossek, who was called out while batting as Versalles tried to steal second base in the third.

"He (Hurley) said Joe interfered with Roseboro, so what could I say?" Mele said.

The other was a complaint by coach Billy Martin to Hurley in the same inning that Koufax was not coming to a complete stop before making his delivery.

"The umpire didn't agree," Mele said, "so that was that."

"Our pitchers pitched well," Mele added. "We just didn't hit that son-of-a-gun.

"Jim Kaat wasn't throwing bad, but you give those guys two runs and you've got to stop them right there. We stopped the rally, but they already had the two runs."

Kaat said the home run pitch he served Lou Johnson was no mistake.

"I threw him a slow curve," Kaat explained, "and then a slider, which he was out in front of. So I wanted to bust a fastball past him in tight. I got it there, but he got around on it. I knew it was gone if it was fair. It was just one of those things.

"Ron Fairly hit a high slider that hung, and Wes Parker was just trying to meet the ball and chopped a fastball down and got it through for the other run."

Kaat joined in praising Koufax.

"He's amazing," Kaat said. "He deserved it. But I felt Gilliam's play won the game. If that ball got through, we might have made Alston make a change."

Bob Allison, Harmon Killebrew and Don Micher also praised Koufax.

"He a great pitcher," said Allison. "I just wish I could have been hitting. It would have been entirely different."

Killebrew said. "He's just one heck of a pitcher. I thought when Herb Score was throwing his best, he was better. But I'm not taking anything away from Sandy because he's great."

"I guess he's the best I ever saw," said Mincher. "But I think we gained their respect; that's one thing."

Zoilo Versalles was one dissenter. His dark eyes fierce, his teeth set, Versalles said:

"I think they were lucky today. You know why? The first guy hits the pole for a home run. I get on base and they call interference. Then I hit the ball past third, and the guy don't even know he has the ball. We hit Koufax; he was throwing the same, no different.

"I say today we could have won easy. They bounce the ball over the head and everything."

Palmer, Lema Tie For World Match Play Golfing Lead

Virginia Water, England (AP) —Arnold Palmer and Tony Lema smashed down opposition in the first round of the eight-man World Match Play championship Thursday in such style that an all-American final Saturday is probable.

Palmer, the 36-year-old Latrobe, Pa., Golden Man of modern golf, disposed of Kel Nagle of Australia, 3 and 2.

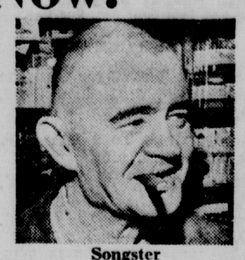

Lema, already winner of $101,000 this year, battered England's Peter Alliss, 5 and 4.

Lincoln To Host 2 Top High School Grid Games

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Capital City high school football fans have a pair of top attractions to choose from Friday night as Lincoln High tangles with Southeast at Seacrest Field and Creighton Prep invades Pius X.

The stage is set for top productions at either location.

The Lincoln High-Southeast series has been the closest intra-city rivalry in recent campaigns. The seven-year series stands 4-3 in favor of the Links, but only two of the games have been decided by margins of more than one touchdown.

And Southeast's three consecutive wins coming into the eighth game of the series have all been by virtue of extra points.

Tenth-ranked Lincoln High, fresh from a 34-0 rout over Grand Island, ranks a slight favorite to end the three years of frustration.

"Things looked better for us last week, but I don't think Grand Island was a fair test because they've had some boys hurt," coach Andy Loehr of the Links indicates.

The Links have a lot of respect for Southeast, which played unbeaten Bellevue to a virtual standstill before falling, 6-0, last week.

Injury-plagued Southeast has only a 1-3-1 record, but coach Bill Stephenson has been displeasedwith only one effort (Fremont) by his Knights.

"Our morale is still excellent despite some bad breaks we've had," Stephenson says, "We had Bellevue on the ropes last week, but one play killed us."

Clouding the issue for the Knights this week is the doubtful status of guard Dick Splichal and halfback Dave McEwen.

Splichal and senior fullback Tom Bock were credited by Stevenson for top efforts in the upset bid against Bellevue.

Bock is one of several newcomers who have been seeing increased duty in the Knight's injury-depleted backfield corps.

Second-ranked Pius X has its second meeting with Creighton Prep, longtime power which is probably much better than its 2-3 record indicates.

"I was quite surprised with Prep's defense in their 6-2 loss to Boys Town last week," says Pius X coach Vince Aldrich, "they looked as good as any team I've seen with the exception of Boys Town."

The Thunderbolts have been working overtime on pass defense this week because Don Leahy's Junior Jays, smaller than the usual Creighton Prep teams, have opened up their passing attack this year.

Aldrich reports all hands ready for action as the Thunderbolts try to make up for last year's 40-18 thrashing administered by Creighton Prep.

White Among Top All-American Picks

Kansas City (AP)—The list of offensive All America candidates in the Midlands begins with Francis Peay, Missouri's 6-foot-4, 246-pound tackle, and Howard Twilley, Tulsa's amazing little split end.

Freeman White, Nebraska's 6-foot-5, 220-pound split end, was almost on the same level with the top two in the second report by the Associated Press regional board.

The board listed several backs as outstanding including quarterback Bill Anderson of Tulsa, who leads the nation in pass completions; quarterback Gary Lane of Missouri; halfback William Harris of Colorado and Charlie Brown of Missouri; and fullbacks Frank Solich of Nebraska and Walt Garrison of Oklahoma State.

Peay, a senior from Pittsburgh, Pa., is making a big impression with his blocking. He was the lead blocker in Brown's 47 and 37-yard runs last week and led the way for Missouri 324-yard ground game at Minnesota.

Twilley draws three and four-man coverage game after game, but keep on getting open and making amazing catches. He set an NCAA record with 95 catches last year. At his present pace he'll have 115 this year. No other man has won two straight NCAA receiving crowns. He seems certain to be the first.

White does it all, including blocking, and he's fast.

Hunter's Clock

Readers are reminded that shooting hours for all upland game birds and small-game animals are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Shooting hours for big game are from one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. Waterfowl and other migratory birds may be taken between sunrise and sunset. The following applies to shooting at any point in Nebraska that is due north or due south of each of the cities and towns. For each 13 miles west of each city add one minute, and for each 13 miles east subtract one minute.

Mitchell To Use Closed Circuit TV For OU Tilt

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Jack Mitchell, Kansas football coach, says he will use closed circuit television in directing his team from the press box against Oklahoma at Norman Saturday.

The system will be hooked to a video tape recorder which will allow Mitchell to have plays rerun between downs.

Mitchell said Missouri used a similar system in beating Kansas 34-14 last fall at Columbia. He said video tape also is used during games by Texas, Nebraska and Texas Tech, among others.

"This is the coming thing," Mitchell said after watching a demonstration. "There is no question that everybody is going to have it. The more we can learn through using this system, the more prepared we will be."

Koufax will receive a 1966 Corvette convertible sports car at a ceremony to be held in New York soon. Koufax also won the award in 1963. Bob Gibson, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, was the 1964 winner.

Peru Wins Triangular Over Missouri Teams

Peru (UPI)—Peru State College Thursday won a triangular cross country meet here with a low score of 17.

Tarkio College of Missouri was second with 55. Taking the loss was Northwest Missouri State with 66.

Duda Faces K-State Again

. . . FRED TO PLAY SAME TEAM TWICE

Nebraska senior quarterback Fred Duda has started seven games over a three year period for the Cornhuskers.

But he has never faced the same team twice. He'll get that chance Saturday at Manhattan, when the Huskers try for win No. 5 against the Kansas State Wildcats.

Ironically, Duda—who has the enviable record of never starting in a losing cause—launched his "first string" career against the K-State Wildcats at Manhattan in 1963.

With Dennis Claridge sidelined with an ankle injury—received in the Air Force loss a week earlier—sophomore Duda was called upon to get the Huskers back on the winning track. The peppery rookie generaled a massive ground attack that outdistanced the Wildcats, 352-2, as the Huskers won, 28-6.

With the Scarlets choosing to stay on the ground—Husker defense nabbed two TDs via pass interceptions—Duda tallied only 31 yards passing, hitting on three of 13 attempts.

Duda also started the Kansas and Oklahoma State game in 1963 when Claridge was injured, then took over as the Huskers' top quarterback in 1964.

He opened against South Dakota, then staged a fantastic come-from-behind rally against Minnesota—two TD passes in the final seven minutes—to pull out a victory, before breaking a leg in the third game against Iowa State.

Last week against Wisconsin, Duda edged veteran Bobby Churchich for the starting job. And he had a fine day, including a 59-yard TD run, as he drove the Cornhuskers to a 37-0 win over the Badgers.

Here's Fred Duda's record as a starting quarterback for the Cornhuskers:

1963
Nebraska 28, Kansas State 6
Nebraska 25, Kansas 9
Nebraska 20, Oklahoma State 16
1964
Nebraska 56, South Dakota 0
Nebraska 26, Minnesota 21
Nebraska 14, Iowa State 7
1965
Nebraska 37, Wisconsin 0

"It will seem different, anyway," Duda said, referring to the fact that he'll be starting against a team for the second time. "This is a big, important game for us and we want to do a good job.

"We've been improving, and I hope we can keep our momentum going against Kansas State. It's a cinch they'll be ready to upset us if we give them a chance."

This is the first time Fred has been able to speak with experience about an opponent.

"Boy, I remember that 1963 game—they played us real tough, but our defense helped take the pressure off me with those two interception touchdowns," he said.

Some State Workers' Checks Late

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said Thursday that September payroll checks were a day late in reaching state institutional employes.

However, Townsend said he anticipates no future delays in payroll checks.

He said a couple of factors contributed to the delay in getting out the 3,200 institutional paychecks.

"The checks had to be processed by hand at the last minute because of a breakdown in older computer equipment," he explained.

"All payrolls will now be on time," he added. "The larger computer of the Department of Roads is now being used on a shared-time basis. The University of Nebraska computer can be used as backup equipment, and, if necessary, time can be 'borrowed' on one in private industry."

Townsend said there was also some misunderstanding in the department involved as to the new coding system for for accounts, but this has been straightened out.

"You can't say there won't be more problems during the transition into the new state accounting system, but there won't be more delays in the payroll," he added.

The director said new computer equipment to be installed and operating by April 1 would cut the payroll process by seven days.

The department writes 50,000 state warrants each month. About 15,000 are payroll.

More Referendum Petitions Filed

Secretary of State Frank Marsh's office reported Thursday that 19 more state income tax referendum petitions were filed.

The petitions, all from Lancaster County, contained 180 signatures and were filed by Leo N. Bartunek of Lincoln. Filing deadline is Nov. 16.

The office is checking the approximately 85,000 signatures filed in September. Additional petitions are anticipated until the deadline.

India-Pakistan Claims

New Delhi (AP)—The Indian government claims it holds 740 square miles of Pakistani territory as a result of the undeclared 22-day war between the two countries. It said Pakistan holds 210 square miles of Indian territory.

NEW COMET SHOWS TAIL

Ikeya-Seki Comet shows a tail about 4 million miles long in this photo released Thursday by Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass. It was made at its station in Woomera, Australia, Oct. 2. The comet's head of glowing gas is many thousands of miles across, although the nucleus may be only a mile or two in diameter. The tail is expected to be most spectacular the night of Oct. 20.

Roundtable Planned

Omaha (UPI)—Two hundred high school journalists from four states are expected to take part in Creighton University's 11th annual roundtable for student editors Saturday. Students from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and South Dakota have registered for the program.

Morrison Confident Of Success

Gov. Frank Morrison reported via trans-Atlantic telephone Thursday he is confident Nebraska's trade mission to Europe will be successful.

The governor's administrative assistant, Gene Budig, said Morrison reported his first contacts with businessmen in London, England, have been very encouraging.

Budig said the governor has recovered from an attack of what Morrison described as acute food poisoning and was feeling well Thursday.

He was confined to bed one day, according to Budig.

Morrison is heading a 10-man trade mission designed to boost Nebraska exports to Europe, including livestock, feeds, agricultural machinery and electronics.

County Government Study Unit Eyes National Survey

The Legislative Study Committee on County Government Reorganization Thursday called for a national study to determine the duties of various county officials in other states.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, committee chairman, said it is obvious there should be some reshuffling of duties of county officials in Nebraska and certain officials should be authorized to serve more than one county.

He said a county clerk or a county surveyor, for instance, could serve several counties with each county involved paying its share of the cost.

The Legislative Council's research staff will conduct the study on consolidation of county offices and county organization used by other states.

Twins Pay Tribute To Koufax' Pitching

. . . ZOILO VERSALLES: 'I THINK THEY WERE LUCKY TODAY'

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP) — ne Minnesota Twins paid ibute to Sandy Koufax as a eat pitcher in their quiet essing room Thursday aft- the left-hander had hurled os Angeles to the World eries championship

"It took another great per- rmance by him (Koufax) to at us," Manager Sam Mele id following the 2-0 loss. My guys played good, dam- t. I told them they did a fine b, to keep their chins up d we'll start after another e next spring."

American League President e Cronin was the first to ter the Twins' clubhouse ter a five-minute wait for ele to talk to his team

"Joe," Mele said. "I wish ould have done it for you." Replied Cronin:

"He had it—he's a great cher. Gilliam's play turned around—no doubt about it. It as a great play; if the ball d gone through, it would ve tied the game."

Cronin referred to Koufax d to third baseman Jim illiam's stop of Zoilo Ver- lles' hard grounder past rd base in the fifth inning. cut off one Minnesota run d possibly a second tally. ank Quilici was on second se and pinch hitter Rich llins on first.

'Gilliam's play could have en the turning point," Mele reed "Rollins has a chance score from first, depending what happens in the left ld corner. It was a great y, no doubt about it."

Mele said he called Dodger anager Walter Alston to con- atulate him.

He said he hopes we meet ain next year," Mele said. 'hat would be fine with us." Dodger General Manager zzy Bavasi entered Mele's office to congratulate the Twins' manager.

Mele explained two controversies which developed between the Twins and plate umpire Ed Hurley.

One was on an interference call against Joe Nossek, who was called out while batting as Versalles tried to steal second base in the third.

"He (Hurley) said Joe interfered with Roseboro, so what could I say?" Mele said.

The other was a complaint by coach Billy Martin to Hurley in the same inning that Koufax was not coming to a complete stop before making his delivery.

"The umpire didn't agree," Mele said, "so that was that."

"Our pitchers pitched well," Mele added. "We just didn't hit that son-of-a-gun.

"Jim Kaat wasn't throwing bad, but you give those guys two runs and you've got to stop them right there. We stopped the rally, but they already had the two runs."

Kaat said the home run pitch he served Lou Johnson was no mistake.

"I threw him a slow curve," Kaat explained, "and then a slider, which he was out in front of. So I wanted to bust a fastball past him in tight. I got it there, but he got around on it. I knew it was gone if it was fair. It was just one of those things.

"Ron Fairly hit a high slider that hung, and Wes Parker was just trying to meet the ball and chopped a fastball down and got it through for the other run."

Kaat joined in praising Koufax.

"He's amazing," Kaat said. "He deserved it. But I felt Gilliam's play won the game. If that ball got through, we might have made Alston make a change."

Bob Allison, Harmon Killebrew and Don Micher also praised Koufax.

"He a great pitcher," said Allison. "I just wish I could have been hitting. It would have been entirely different."

Killebrew said. "He's just one heck of a pitcher. I thought when Herb Score was throwing his best, he was better. But I'm not taking anything away from Sandy because he's great."

"I guess he's the best I ever saw," said Mincher. "But I think we gained their respect; that's one thing."

Zoilo Versalles was one dissenter. His dark eyes fierce, his teeth set, Versalles said:

"I think they were lucky today. You know why? The first guy hits the pole for a home run. I get on base and they call interference. Then I hit the ball past third, and the guy don't even know he has the ball. We hit Koufax; he was throwing the same, no different.

"I say today we could have won easy. They bounce the ball over the head and everything."

Elephants Safe In Derailed Car

Port Clinton, Ohio (AP)—A circus car loaded with elephants derailed on the New York Central System tracks Thursday, but fortunately there was a freight train on the next track. It gave the elephant car something to "lean" against.

Railroadmen kept the freight in position until the elephant car could be blocked up.

The car carrying 10 baby elephants was the 21st in a 27-car circus train taking the Ringling Bros. Circus to Cleveland. It derailed at Danbury, one mile west of the Sandusky Bay Bridge.

Damage was light and none of the animals was injured.

Some State Workers' Checks Late

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend said Thursday that September payroll checks were a day late in reaching state institutional employes.

However, Townsend said he anticipates no future delays in payroll checks.

He said a couple of factors contributed to the delay in getting out the 3,200 institutional paychecks.

"The checks had to be processed by hand at the last minute because of a breakdown in older computer equipment," he explained

"All payrolls will now be on time," he added. "The larger computer of the Department of Roads is now being used on a shared-time basis. The University of Nebraska computer can be used as backup equipment, and, if necessary, time can be 'borrowed' on one in private industry."

Townsend said there was also some misunderstanding in the department involved as to the new coding system for for accounts, but this has been straightened out.

"You can't say there won't be more problems during the transition into the new state accounting system, but there won't be more delays in the payroll," he added.

The director said new computer equipment to be installed and operating by April 1 would cut the payroll process by seven days.

The department writes 50,000 state warrants each month. About 15,000 are payroll.

More Referendum Petitions Filed

Secretary of State Frank Marsh's office reported Thursday that 19 more state income tax referendum petitions were filed.

The petitions, all from Lancaster County, contained 180 signatures and were filed by Leo N. Bartunek of Lincoln. Filing deadline is Nov. 16.

The office is checking the approximately 85,000 signatures filed in September. Additional petitions are anticipated until the deadline.

India-Pakistan Claims

New Delhi (AP)—The Indian government claims it holds 740 square miles of Pakistani territory as a result of the undeclared 22-day war between the two countries. It said Pakistan holds 210 square miles of Indian territory.

NEW COMET SHOWS TAIL

Ikeya-Seki Comet shows a tail about 4 million miles long in this photo released Thursday by Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass. It was made at its station in Woomera, Australia, Oct. 2. The comet's head of glowing gas is many thousands of miles across, although the nucleus may be only a mile or two in diameter. The tail is expected to be most spectacular the night of Oct. 20.

Roundtable Planned

Omaha (UPI)—Two hundred high school journalists from four states are expected to take part in Creighton University's 11th annual roundtable for student editors Saturday. Students from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and South Dakota have registered for the program.

Morrison Confident Of Success

Gov. Frank Morrison reported via trans-Atlantic telephone Thursday he is confident Nebraska's trade mission to Europe will be successful.

The governor's administrative assistant, Gene Budig, said Morrison reported his first contacts with businessmen in London, England, have been very encouraging.

Budig said the governor has recovered from an attack of what Morrison described as acute food poisoning and was feeling well Thursday.

He was confined to bed one day, according to Budig.

County Government Study Unit Eyes National Survey

The Legislative Study Committee on County Government Reorganization Thursday called for a national study to determine the duties of various county officials in other states.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, committee chairman, said it is obvious there should be some reshuffling of duties of county officials in Nebraska and certain officials should be authorized to serve more than one county.

He said a county clerk or a county surveyor, for instance, could serve several counties with each county involved paying its share of the cost.

The Legislative Council's research staff will conduct the study on consolidation of county offices and county organization used by other states.

Stock Market Mixed, Lower

New York (AP)—The stock market continued Thursday to present a scrambled pattern as the over-all statistics worked mildly lower.

It was the third straight session of this corrective kind since the popular market averages got in gear on Monday to post historic highs.

Volume was 8.6 million shares compared with 9.5 million Wednesday and was the week's smallest.

Steels and motors were higher all day but they failed to promote a following among other bread-and-butter groups. Meanwhile, the high-flying electronics and other issues which have attracted warm speculative interest were cooling down considerably, judging by their uneven prices and a comparison of their daily turnover.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 3.51 at 937.50.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, which represents about 85 per cent of the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, declined .25 to 91.09.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .2 to 347.6 with industrials off 1.1, rails up 1.0 to a new high for the year and utilities off .6.

Of 1,395 issues traded, 554 rose and 590 fell. New highs for the year totaled 102 and new lows 7.

The steels had additional reason to string their rally into a second day because Bethlehem went along with U.S. Steel in raising the price of tin plate. Most steels, including Bethlehem, were content with fractional gains, however.

Booming car sales and a dividend increase by Ford were sufficient cause for an advance of Big Three autos. Ford and Chrysler added only ⅜ each while General Motors suddenly spurted 1¾.

Nine of the 15 most-active issues advanced and 6 declined. Korvette, off 2⅜ at 32⅜, was the most-active on turnover of 244,900 shares.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 2.28 million shares compared with 3.08 million Wednesday.

Corporate bonds were unchanged. U.S. government bonds were mostly lower.

Soybeans Hit By Late Profit Talking

Chicago (AP) — Late profit taking wiped out fractional gains in soybeans futures prices in the Board of Trade Thursday and soybeans and grains closed generally lower.

Price swings were slight, however, in the absence of any firm market influences and trading was relatively light.

At the close wheat was ⅝ cent a bushel lower to ¼ higher, December $1.58-58⅜; corn ⅛-⅜ lower, December $1.14⅜-½; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December 66⅝ cents; rye ¼-¾ lower, December $1.22½; soybeans unchanged to 1 cent lower, November $2.46¼-⅜.

RANGE CATTLE CONDITION UP

The condition of Nebraska's range cattle was rated Thursday at 89%, four points above last year and up one point from a month ago.

Luxuriant range and pasture growth during the summer contributed to the good condition, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The report reflected conditions as of Oct. 1.

A rating of 80 to 89 is considered good; 90 to 99, very good.

Range feed conditions on Oct. 1 were rated at 88%, up 11 points from a year earlier and five points above the 5-year (1959-63) Oct. 1 average of 83.

Elephants Safe In Derailed Car

Port Clinton Ohio (AP)—A circus car loaded with elephants derailed on the New York Central System tracks Thursday, but fortunately there was a freight train on the next track. It gave the elephant car something to "lean" against.

Railroadmen kept the freight in position until the elephant car could be blocked up.

The car carrying 10 baby elephants was the 21st in a 27-car circus train taking the Ringling Bros. Circus to Cleveland. It derailed at Danbury, one mile west of the Sandusky Bay Bridge.

Damage was light and none of the animals was injured.

Stock Market Mixed, Lower

New York (AP)—The stock market continued Thursday to present a scrambled pattern as the over-all statistics worked mildly lower.

It was the third straight session of this corrective kind since the popular market averages got in gear on Monday to post historic highs.

Volume was 8.6 million shares compared with 9.5 million Wednesday and was the week's smallest.

Steels and motors were higher all day but they failed to promote a following among other broad-and butter groups. Meanwhile, the high-flying electronics and other issues which have attracted warm speculative interest were cooling down considerably, judging by their uneven prices and a comparison of their daily turnover.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 3.51 at 937.50.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, which represents about 85 per cent of the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, declined .25 to 91.09.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .2 to 347.6 with industrials off 1.1, rails up 1.0 to a new high for the year and utilities off .6.

Of 1,395 issues traded, 551 rose and 580 fell. New highs for the year totaled 102 and new lows 7.

The steels had additional reason to string their rally into a second day because Bethlehem went along with U S Steel in raising the price of tin plate. Most steels, including Bethlehem, were content with fractional gains, however.

Booming car sales and a dividend increase by Ford were sufficient cause for an advance of Big Three autos. Ford and Chrysler added only ¼ each while General Motors suddenly spurted 1 ½.

Nine of the 15 most-active issues advanced and 6 declined. Korvette, off 2⅝ at 32 ⅛, was the most active on turnover of 244,900 shares.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 2.28 million shares compared with 3.08 million Wednesday.

Soybeans Hit By Late Profit Talking

Chicago (AP) — Late profit taking wiped out fractional gains in soybeans futures prices in the Board of Trade Thursday and soybeans and grains closed generally lower.

Price swings were slight, however, in the absence of any firm market influences and trading was relatively light.

At the close wheat was ⅜ cent a bushel lower to ¼ higher, December $1.58-58⅛; corn ⅛-¼ lower, December $1.14⅝-¾; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December 66⅝ cents; rye ¼-½ lower, December $1.22½; soybeans unchanged to 1 cent lower, November 52 46¾-⅞.

RANGE CATTLE CONDITION UP

The condition of Nebraska's range cattle was rated Thursday at 89%, four points above last year and up one point from a month ago.

The report reflected conditions as of Oct. 1.

A rating of 80 to 89 is considered good; 90 to 99, very good.

Range feed conditions on Oct. 1 were rated at 88%, up 11 points from a year earlier and five points above the 5-year (1959-63) Oct. 1 average of 83.
